

Drug abuse spreading into lower school grade levels

By GARY SCHNEIDER
of the Press-Record

"The attendance shows that Granite City has a serious drug problem and the parents know it and are concerned," Chief of Police Ronald Veizer commented after more than 1,000 persons jammed the auditorium of Tri-City Park Tabernacle Monday evening to hear a drug awareness update program.

The program was presented by the Southwestern Illinois Law Enforcement Commission Mobile Team, at the invitation of several local groups. J.W. "Skip" Bennett, training coordinator for the mobile team, welcomed the capacity crowd, saying, "This is a community drug alert. An alarm. It seems Granite City is concerned about the problem."

Bennett said he started as a

Buyers unaware marijuana is laced with cocaine, hashish by pushers policeman in St. Louis and watched the drug problem spread from the streets of the city into the suburbs and now into the schools, where it has stayed. Despite law enforcement efforts to stop the growth of drug abuse, it now has spread down to the lower grades. "Kids from the third grade on up are turning on to drugs. Reports indicate the drug problem is a baby," he warned.

S.A. David Palmer, squad leader for the Northeastern Metropolitan Narcotics and Drug Enforcement Group of Elmhurst, Ill., gave perhaps the strongest warning. He said many drug pushers now are "lacing" marijuana they sell with hashish and cocaine without telling the buyers in an effort to get them addicted to the stronger habit-forming drugs.

That growing addiction guarantees the pushers with a constant and growing number of buyers, which helps the pushers feed their habits, Palmer contended.

Occasional use of most drugs leads to "a habit," which then breeds "tolerance," which, in turn, breeds "addiction or dependence," Palmer said, speaking from his experience in working with drug-dependent youths in the Chicago suburbs.

He also said the old myth that

City ignores protests, Ok's metal firm zoning

By GARY SCHNEIDER
of the Press-Record

There's a difference between democracy and politics.

That is a lesson hundreds of residents of West Granite, North Granite and the Benjamin Subdivision of Venice Township learned Tuesday night as the majority of the Granite City Council ignored their objections and granted heavy industrial zoning to a rail car reclamation business for 370 Missouri Ave. (formerly Route 3), just south of the Shasta Beverages bottling plant.

Prior to the meeting, the council had received petitions bearing about 600 names of area residents opposed to the plant, which they feel might cause air pollution and other dangers. At the meeting, nearly 100 persons, some carrying signs against the plant, were present to voice their opposition. Despite the hostile audience, the petitions, television cameras and lights, prior notification of lawsuits pending against the company's parent firm and objections by several aldermen, the council then voted 7 to 6 to approve the recommendation of the city's Plan Commission, granting M-2 heavy industrial zoning to a 30-acre tract for the rail car reclamation firm, Reclaimed Iron and Metal Co. Mayor Paul Schuler then cast the other yes vote, although it was not necessary. Aldermen who supported the new firm were Everett Morlen and Casner Skubish of the First Ward, Paul Fisk and Carl Kittel of the Third Ward, Warren Deatour of the Fourth Ward and Mac Warfield and Stephen Saltich of the Sixth Ward.

Opponents were Sam Whitmer and Fred "Pat" Schuman of the Second Ward, Sharon Perjak of the Fourth Ward, Jake Varadian of the Fifth Ward and Paul Ray Bowler and Mike Modrusic of the Seventh Ward. Alderman Margaret Nonn of the Fifth Ward was absent.

The council meeting followed two caucuses which may have been in violation of the state's Open Meetings Act. Five aldermen first met with company officials at Charlie's Restaurant for lunch Tuesday and a majority of the aldermen were present for a caucus prior to the council meeting in the town hall.

protests and petitions against the rezoning bearing approximately 600 signatures, the council voted 8 to 6 to grant heavy industrial zoning for the 30 acres in the project.

Owca to be school finance director

By BILL WINTER
of the Press-Record

Norman S. Owca was selected by the Board of Education on Tuesday night to be the Granite City school system's director of finance, the third ranking administrative position in the district.

Currently chairman of the business education department at Granite City High School North, Owca has been a teacher in District Nine for the past 14 years and has 19 years of experience in education.

A consultant to retail businesses and operator of a tax service in his spare time, he also has taught a free Belleville Area College night adult course in Granite City on income tax preparation.

A member of the Collinsville faculty from 1962 to 1967, Owca headed the high school business education department there.

Joining the Granite City district in 1967, he became the North business education department head when that school opened in 1973.

His teaching specialties have included bookkeeping and college-level accounting. He also teaches retail merchandising and business law.

Owca was repair to School Superintendent B. J. Davis and will be responsible for business and financial aspects of the district, including budgeting, tax documents, bidding, disbursements and related matters.

Formerly active in the St. Stanislaus

Lodge here, he and his wife, the former Sharon Woods, reside at Arlington Heights with their two daughters. Sherrie graduated in January from GCSS—North and is a student at Belleville Area College. Terri is an eighth grade student at Grigsby Junior High School.

Owca, who will succeed Curtis R. McDaniel, will begin his new duties May 18. For the July 1981-June 1982 fiscal year, he will receive $32,000, including pension funds.

The recommendation to employ Owca was made by Supt. Davis and was approved unanimously by the board. On McDaniel's recommendation, the board took note of the issuance of $800,000 in tax anticipation warrants for educational purposes during March and April and, on Tuesday night, authorized an additional $1,100,000 in warrants for the education fund during May and June.

In another hiring decision, the board designated Mrs. Nelson (Barbara) Hediger Jr. as secretary to the superintendent of schools effective July 1. Replacing Mrs. Martha Rochester, who is taking early retirement, Mrs. Hediger has been serving as the school personnel secretary.

Gary Morgan was re-employed for 1981-82. He will serve as vocational education and grant shop teacher at GCSS South.

The board denied a request for a leave of absence, received from a faculty member who plans to serve as a first grade teacher for the U. S. Department of Defense, Office of Dependents Schools, in northern Germany.

Man shot to death in GC Steel parking lot

George W. Vaughn, 53, of 712 E. Schwartz St., Edwardsville, was found shot to death in Granite City Steel's parking area 2, near 20th and Nash streets, at 11:56 p.m. Tuesday.

Mr. Vaughn, a hod carrier, who had been employed at Granite City Steel more than 20 years, apparently was shot twice.

One bullet had struck Mr. Vaughn in the head or neck, leaving entrance and exit wounds, and a second wound was found in the upper left quadrant of the abdomen.

Granite City Detective Sergeant Don Knight, who is heading the investigation team, today asked anyone who was in the parking area or vicinity between 11:20 p.m. and 11:45 p.m. Tuesday and who may have heard shots fired or saw anything unusual to call 878-9027.

All information will be treated confidentially, he said. Those calling are requested to ask for Det. Sgt. Knight, Det. Jerry Wilson or Det. Dave Ruebhausen, all of whom are working on the case.

Det. Sgt. Knight said perhaps 100 persons or more may have been in the vicinity of the parking area during that period of time when traffic is heavy due to shift changes.

He said the team is in the process of "going through everything very carefully, sifting information and trying to find someone who may provide further details."

Granite City police were first notified by plant security personnel that a man had been found lying on the parking lot.

The first police officers on the scene were unable to find a pulse beat on the victim, they said.

A security man who had checked Mr. Vaughn prior to the arrival of officers, also reported being unsuccessful in an effort to locate a pulse.

An ambulance was summoned and also called was Madison County Deputy Coroner William Sternberg, who pronounced Mr. Vaughn dead at the scene at 12:25 a.m. Wednesday.

Mr. Vaughn was lying on his back next to his auto with both arms at his side. A sack containing towels and his lunch was lying between his legs.

His glasses were found about two feet away, under a guardrail, and his hat was two or three feet from his left foot. Another mill employee, also from Edwardsville, initially saw Mr. Vaughn lying on the ground with blood on him as he was driving into a parking space next to the victim's car and ran to the guard's shack at the 20th and Nash Street gate.

Mr. Vaughn was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Medical Center and X-rays were made, which showed entrance and exit wounds on the rear of the neck and the side of the head.

Prior to the ambulance leaving the medical center for a local funeral home, a police officer, checking the bag found next to Mr. Vaughn, discovered powder burns and a hole in the bag.

Mr. Vaughn's body was taken back into the hospital and checked for additional wounds.

The second wound then was found in the abdomen, the police report states.

The Edwardsville resident, was working on the midnight to 8 a.m. shift and was going to work at the time of his death.

Mr. Vaughn usually made it a point to report to the job earlier than is required, it was learned.

An autopsy was conducted Wednesday, but the results have not yet been reported, according to Deputy Coroner Sternberg, who will conduct an inquest at a later date.

Funeral arrangements may be found in today's obituary column.

Mr. Vaughn was a veteran of the Korean War. He was a member of an Alton Masonic lodge.

Among the survivors are his wife, Mrs. Vivian Vaughn; two sons, George Vaughn Jr., Edwardsville, and Ronnie Vaughn, Lansing, Mich.; two daughters, Miss Jessie Vaughn, Edwardsville, and Mrs. Shirley Cambrie, Lansing; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George (Bernice Scott) Vaughn, Edwardsville; and nine grandchildren.

Maryville Road speed limit lowered after fatal accident

The Maryville Road accident April 27 which claimed the life of 5-year-old Erica Davis, 2427 E. 24th St., has compelled the Granite City Council to impose a 25 mile-per-hour speed limit on Maryville Road from Emert to St. Clair avenues and the council has asked the police department to strictly enforce that limit.

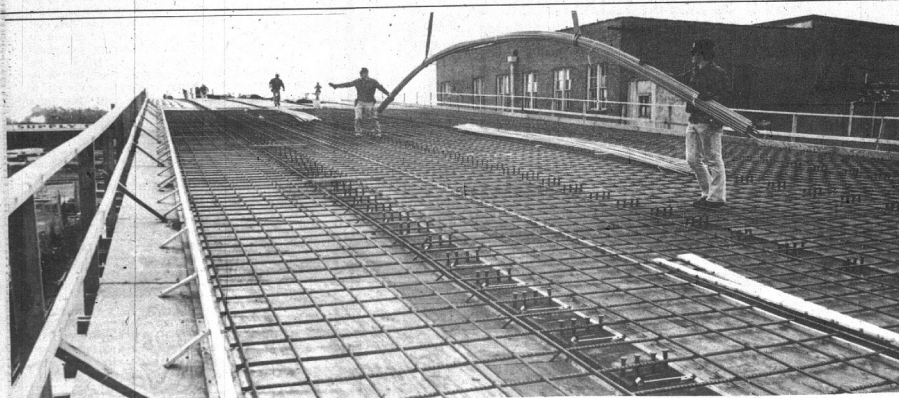

Erica was visiting at the apartments across from Worthen Park, in the 2200 block of Maryville Road, when she was struck by one of two southbound autos as she ran eastward onto the street. She died Saturday at Cardinal Glennon Hospital in St. Louis.

Alderman Mac Warfield of the Sixth

Ward told the council because of the fatal accident and other near-tragedies in that area, more than 200 residents signed petitions asking for better traffic control on Maryville Road.

"This has been a problem many times. I ask the chief of police to tell patrol cars that if cars go one mile-an-hour over the speed limit, ticket them. I am tired of getting calls about Maryville Road," Warfield said.

Chief of Police Ronald J. Veizer later told the Press-Record he has complied with Warfield's request and will instruct officers to strictly enforce the lower speed limit as soon as signs are posted by the superintendent of streets.

PREPARING THE DECK. Steel reinforcing rods make an interwoven grid on the top of the 19th Street overpass in preparation of the pouring of the concrete deck. Workers in the background direct a bundle of epoxy-coated rods being lifted by a crane from ground level. These rods will make a similar grid which will be suspended above those pictured. The epoxy coating is to retard rusting of the top layer of rods by possible water seepage into the deck.

Heavier class loads for BAC students

Community college enrollment increased statewide during the fall of 1980, and Belleville Area College was no exception. Headcount at BAC was up from 11,008 in the fall of 1979 to 11,484, a 7.63 percent hike. Full-time equivalent enrollment was up 13.47 percent.

Statewide community college enrollment showed a 10.9 percent increase in headcount from fall 1979 to fall 1980 and a 10.7 percent rise in FTE.

The Illinois Community College Board enrollment data was collected from the 39 such colleges throughout the state.

The pattern of BAC's full-time enrollment rising more than the headcount indicates more students are carrying heavier class loads.

Officials said that reflects a statewide trend that saw 27 percent more full-time students. It was their first time since fall 1977 that the number of full-timers increased.

Female enrollment at BAC rose by 510 students or 8.4 percent from fall 1979 to fall 1980, while 322 additional males, a 6.5 percent increase, enrolled.

There are 6,554 females to 5,286 males at BAC. This echoes a statewide trend, which shows female enrollment increasing more than that of males, and puts female headcount at more than 50 percent of the student population.

The average age of BAC students is 29.65 years old, higher than the statewide average of 24.3.

Enrollment in occupational courses at BAC increased 5.1 percent; enrollment in baccalaureate courses rose 3.2 percent.

Just over three percent of the population in the BAC district attended classes at the college during the fall of 1980.

Of every 1,000 residents of the district, 32 or 3.18 percent were enrolled in BAC courses. Statewide, 3.3 percent of the population was enrolled in college classes.

During the fall, there were 2,802 full-time students at BAC and 9,038 part-time students.

Enrollment at BAC has increased steadily since fall 1977. That semester, there were 9,538 enrolled; more than 12,000 students are enrolled during the spring 1981 semester.

GARAGE BURGLARY

Items valued at about $640 were stolen from the garage of John Sammes, 2577 Northridge, between noon and 6 p.m. Sunday. A rear door was pried open to gain entry and a set of hand tools, two electric drills, a sabre saw, a circular saw and a grinder were taken. A door to the kitchen also was forced open and canned goods and meat were taken. At least one steak was cooked in the broiler oven, authorities said.

All the figures are based on enrollment on the 10th day of classes of each semester.

New fund rules for students from Iran

New restrictions on transfer of funds to Iranian students in certain majors may turn out to be more of a hindrance at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, according to Kathryn Kummer, director of international education. Despite the increase in paper work, Iranian students at SIUE will now have an economic reason to pay attention to their grade point average and keep earning credits with "speed and dispatch," she said.

An Iranian government directive in February gave students attending foreign universities until March 20 to enroll in approved majors of medicine, engineering, agriculture or basic sciences or be declared ineligible to receive money from home. The regulation exempts students in the last year of study but requires a C-plus average and full-time status to continue in school.

She said most of the 70 at SIUE will continue to get money from parents in Iran because they are close to graduation or majoring in the right subjects.

Of the 10 affected by the new ruling, most are government or business majors or graduate students, she said. Few new students have left Iran to begin college since the revolution in November 1979.

"So far, the government hasn't clamped down, and there is no drying up yet for any major," she said. "Iran obviously feels it has enough business people. It needs technically educated people. That's why it is putting science and agriculture first," she said.

An Iranian junior who asked not be identified said he plans to continue studying economics at SIUE despite the ban. "I will fill out the papers and try to get the money anyway," he said.

To receive money for college outside the country, the Iranian government now requires students to send notarized copies of passports, transcripts, immigration forms, photographs, a "good standing" letter including a class list, and a special form his or her parents must purchase for $15 from the Iranian bank that will handle the transfer.

When the forms are completed and approved, parents can ask the bank to send the funds (a limited amount for each school semester) to the student's bank in this area.

In some ways it is almost easier to get money now than before, Mrs. Kummer said. The new regulations outline the necessary process.

The alternative is to try to send a personal check by mail. It may take months to arrive or may not arrive at all, she said.

That withdrawal must get government approval also. If the check is lost, she said, it cannot be replaced because the Iranian government limit the amount of money sent to each student.

It takes mounds of paper work, but the fastest method is the direct parent-bank to student-bank transfer, which can be completed in only 10 days, she concluded.

Pontoon Beach abates taxes

The Village of Pontoon Beach will not extend taxes in order to pay interest and principal on real estate, according to an ordinance passed by the village board last week.

Originally, board members deemed it necessary to levy taxes to assure a bank loan. However, the village is now financially capable of paying these installments with existing revenue, and trustees have decided to extend no taxes.

Payments for the property, which houses the Pontoon Beach Village Hall, amount to $15,824 annually. Last year the board abated the taxes and can exercise this option for 10 years.

Boy, 15, faces juvenile charges

Juvenile court petitions were expected to be filed today against a 15-year-old Kirkpatrick Homes boy who allegedly threatened three persons at the home of Doris Rogel, 2724 Buxton Ave., at 10:50 p.m. Sunday.

The victims said the boy threatened to burn the house down, damage the car and harm the victim's daughter. He then went to the alley and yelled obscenities and threats and when a man went to the alley to talk to him, the boy allegedly took a knife or something from his rear pocket and pointed it at the man.

The youth then fled and was arrested at his home. He was released to his mother at 11:55 p.m. Sunday, pending the filing of juvenile court petitions.

BRIGGS TO ADDRESS DIVORCED CATHOLICS

A meeting of the Southern Illinois Divorced and Separated Catholics will be held Wednesday, May 13, at 7:30 p.m. in Eckhard Hall, St. Boniface parish, Edwardsville. Harold E. Briggs, county regional superintendent of schools, will speak on the availability of scholarships and financial aid for students and will discuss qualifications and procedures for applying.

A business meeting regarding the future of the organization will follow. Newcomers, as well as the past, are being urged to attend. The May 27 meeting will be a "rap session," followed by refreshments.

AUTO FACTS

by Harold Chitwood

The condition of your car's tires and air pressure affect wheel alignment just as wheel alignment affects tire life. Be certain that two tires of about equal tread depth are placed on the front and that air pressure is equalized. Wheel balance contributes to a smoother ride and better steering control, helps prolong the life of the front-end system and adds to tire life as well. Static imbalance means that there is a "heavy" spot somewhere around the circumference of the wheel and tire assembly. Dynamic imbalance occurs if there is a "heavy" spot toward the outer edge of the tire or wheel, from side to side. The condition is corrected by attaching small lead balance weights to the wheel rim.

Your tires are of great importance when it comes to the proper running of your car as well as your gas mileage and especially your safety. At BIG 4 CHEVROLET COMPANY, 1820 Vandavia St. in Collinsville, you'll appreciate our parts department: it represents an investment of over $250,000 in genuine GM parts. Chances are we'll have the part you need when you need it. Our hours are Mon-Fri 7-7:30, phone 345-5444. The entire staff would like to take this moment to wish all mothers, young and old, a very, very Happy Mother's Day.

AUTO TIP:

Wheels and tires sometimes have both static and dynamic imbalance. Modern balancing equipment enables your service technician to correct both conditions.

Commission proposed to maintain county buildings

Creation of a public building commission rather than a law enforcement district is being suggested by the Madison County Board's legal adviser as a way of beefing up county governmental revenue.

In a letter to Sheriff Emil Toffant, Assistant State's Attorney Marshall H. Smith relates, "At the last meeting of the County Board, I was asked to explore the possibility of setting up a Special Service District, pursuant to Chapter 120, Sections 1301, et seq., and I enclose a copy of the statute. I understand that your department has explored this in the past."

"Very basically, we can impose a tax after giving notice and holding a hearing. We can put in any tax rate we want and for any number of years."

"However, if someone circulates a petition and it is signed by 51 percent of the electors residing in the area and filed within 30 days following final adjournment of the public hearing, objecting to the service district, then that is the end of it and it can't be done again for a period of two years."

"Very obviously, the county's income has not kept up with inflation."

"Unless something is done, there will probably be more cuts than we have already had in your department, which I feel that the County Board deems very vital. The real question, of course, is how to do it."

"Basically, people in the municipalities have their own police department and also help pay for your department to police unincorporated areas of the county also."

"Our real difference is that sales tax and income tax revenue that we obtain from the unincorporated areas go directly to the county from the unincorporated areas and we, of course, don't get that income from the public that lives in the municipalities."

"So, they are paying some and this figure could be determined with reasonable certainty. I guess the unincorporated areas should be credited with that, after we determine what share of those monies are really being used for other services for their particular benefit and not the rest of the county."

"This matter gets to be a bit of a quagmire. But I have a feeling that unless we figure all that out, the public in the unincorporated areas might feel that we are taking advantage of them, even though they are certainly cognizant of the need of more and not less patrol cars."

"After we get over that hurdle, we have the old problem that the farmers really don't like taxes at all. And there is validity in their argument, I think, that their land itself is taxed at the same rate as the improvements."

"Therefore, the farmers could be paying a great deal more for their family's protection than, say, a family in Rosewood Heights."

"Whether we could make some adjustment in our tax levy is pretty questionable. It would seem to me that it might be worthwhile, because it sounds to me like a valid classification. Few lawyers would probably agree with me."

"I am sending a copy of this to Ted Mikesell at the Southwestern Illinois Metropolitan and Regional Planning Commission, and I had a very brief conversation recently with him in Chicago regarding the Special Service District. He was quite enthusiastic about the benefits that we could bestow with this service."

"Undoubtedly, he will be able to shower us with a wealth of information and a prescription to make this medicine go down easily."

"I believe that all of the above groundwork has to be laid before we can seriously propose this."

"As an alternative to the above, we have another difficult solution to our money problem. About ten years ago, the County Board adopted a Public Building Commission and the primary objective at that time was to take care of our space needs."

"The idea really wasn't popular because, of course, it costs money to build buildings and that means taxes in one form or another," Smith commented.

"Presently, the main motivation for the Public Building Commission would be to obtain funds so that the vital services, such as patrolling the unincorporated areas, not be cut."

"Somewhere, even if our present business climate improves, we are going to have to find more funds."

"If you are operating a city or a school, almost everyone is involved in that and while they don't like it — they will go along with a raise in order to get their garbage picked up, their kids sent to school, etc., because they understand it."

"With our county, however, the average citizen is lucky if he never gets to the Courthouse, and never is in sympathy with what really has to be done to keep the law functioning in this county, which is really what holds the fabric of our society together for everyone. It might not hold it together too well, but it is all there is."

"If the County Board could be prevailed upon to appoint a Public Building Commission, we could immediately lease all the buildings to that commission, which would have to maintain them. To get the money to maintain them, they would have to levy a tax."

"Based upon Auditor

Fields' letter, we could go to $1,300,000, which is no doubt a great deal more than is actually needed. In other words, the county could continue to bear some of this maintenance."

"The big practical problem I had this last time was that many board members thought that the Public Building Commission could run off and do about anything it wanted to do, and this is absolutely not true. Every lease and every contract the commission signs has to be approved by the County Board."

"Perhaps to add impetus to the Public Building Commission, I understand that we are going to have to spend a real bundle of money on the old bank building, according to the state fire marshal."

"The fact is, the figures I have heard would amount to more money than the building is worth and far more than we paid for it."

"If that building has to be torn down, we are going to have to build something. Except for the half-million or so that is in federal revenue sharing funds, there is no way in the world to provide space except through a Public Building Commission."

"Every big county in the state has had to go through this process ten and 20 years ago, so even those who might be unalterably opposed to a Public Building Commission have to grant that our board members have stayed away from it longer than anyone else in the state."

"One problem leads to another, and if the old bank building is torn down, where do we build? That immediately gets us over to the old jail and the problems involved around that."

"You can tell from the above, however, that I lean toward the Public Building Commission as a quicker and easier answer to many problems than the Special Service Area."

"However, that is for the County Board to decide. I think this matter should be brought up before the board again. Or they should tell us whether we should get into the detailed plans that will be required for the Special Service Area, or give them more information on the Public Building Commission, or both."

Families with tornado loss aided by Red Cross chapter

The Tri-City Chapter of the American Red Cross has paid $7,829 in grants to residents of the Granite City, Pontoon Beach and Edwardsville area who suffered losses during the April 3 tornado that swept through the area, it was reported here Tuesday by Gwendolyn O'Guin, director of the local chapter.

Miss O'Guin said the funds were provided by the National Red Cross but that "monies forwarded are actually a return on the investment of all those people who throughout the years have supported the United Way, and in so doing, make it possible for chapter to help those in need."

The local chapter made outright grants—not loans—to 19 families in the Granite City and Pontoon Beach areas (80 individuals) amounting to $1,772 for food, $2,530 for clothing and $711 for other items.

In addition grants were made to seven families (24 individuals) in Mobil Home Park in Edwardsville amounting to $544 for food, $352 for clothing, $650 for rent and $1,280 for other items.

Keep your dog, letter carrier far, far apart

"My dog doesn't bite!" A familiar refrain to all letter carriers. The truth of the matter is that most dogs will not bite family members, but can, and sometimes do, bite strangers. Most dogs, no matter what the size, try to protect their owner's property and family from harm, according to Postmaster Jack Wilkins of Granite City.

Even though you may not consider your letter carrier a stranger, your dog may have other thoughts, he added. During a typical year there are 7,000 letter carriers bitten across the country. Most of these bites occur during the summer months, when its warm and children are out of school.

In the past year Granite City has had six carriers bitten who required medical attention, postal officials said.

Almost all bites are preventable if the customer had exercised a little caution prior to the accident.

Since dog bites are always painful and usually costly, all carriers are required to follow certain safety precautions in order to minimize their chance of being bitten. However, the most cautious carrier can still be bitten if his or her customers fail to cooperate. The best advice, Wilkins said, is to keep your dog and your letter carrier apart far apart.

If the dog is the outdoor type, secure him with a leash away from your mail receptacle and out of the line of travel of your carrier.

If your pet is a house dog, that is the best place for him during the delivery hours of your carrier. Since letter carriers are on scheduled rounds and will usually come by your house at the same time each day, the best policy is to keep your dog confined until you are sure that the carrier has been paid your house.

It is important to realize that if a carrier feels threatened by a dog he does have to deliver mail at that house. This can sometimes lead to an avoidable delay in your mail service, Wilkins added.

Your carrier will appreciate your cooperation in restraining your dog, no matter what his size or temperament. And you can guarantee yourself uninterrupted mail service. If your Granite City neighborhood is troubled by stray dogs you may report them to the humane officer at 452-6233.

Pretreatment program cost is estimated at $160,000

By GARY SCHNEIDER
of the Press-Record

Operation of a federally mandated sewage pretreatment program in Granite City will cost about $160,000 in the first year and in excess of $110,000 in the second year, industrial representatives attending Tuesday evening's public meeting on the pretreatment program were told.

According to Terrance McMillan, superintendent of the Granite City sewage treatment plant, the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency will pay 75 percent of the cost of the program, but the local share will have to be borne by local industries considered heavy users. He also warned that the cost estimates are "in 1981 dollars and are likely to change with inflation. These figures are not chiseled in stone."

Basically, the program, which could be in operation by this fall, calls for the city to measure and monitor the quantity and quality of industrial sewage from 17 industries. Industries found to be discharging harmful, dangerous or difficult to treat substances will be forced to pretreat their own sewage before discharging it into the city's sewage system. Industries also must pay the full local share of the cost, according to the federal guidelines.

Granite City Steel Division of National Steel Corp. is not involved in the program because the company operates its own treatment plant for industrial wastes. Cost estimates for the first year are $40,000 for sampling, $30,000 for analytical and laboratory work, $40,000 for administrative costs, $34,000 as the local share of engineering and planning for the program and $25,000 for samplers, meters and a truck needed to implement the program.

The second year, only the sampling, laboratory work and administrative costs will be involved reducing the cost to $110,000, plus inflation, McMillan noted. The federal EPA will pay 75 percent of the cost.

After the first or second year, the program and its findings will be reevaluated and the program could expand or diminish, he added.

The cost recovery method is being explored, but it appears the city may use a combination of billing each industry directly for sampling and administrative fees and will charge for laboratory work according to the quantity of discharge from each industry. "The decision is to be left to the elected city officials," he said.

"I want to stress that this entire program is mandated by the EPA and the Illinois EPA. We have no choice. They have even given us a compliance timetable we have to follow and there is not much time," McMillan told the Press-Record after the meeting.

"This (treatment) plant has a history of non-compliance with state standards for 1979, 1980 and 1981, solely because of industrial waste problems. In the first half of 1980, we were in non-compliance consistently with iron levels. Our plant does not treat for iron, so it was just going directly to the sewer."

"We started investigating and thought we had the source pinpointed. Then, that industry shut down its piece of equipment we suspected because of a downturn in business and that ended the problem. It has not returned, but the industry has not started using that piece of equipment again yet," he added.

With a pretreatment program, the city will have the authority to sample the sewage being released from major industries, to have it tested and to determine what harmful materials are being released.

Industries not willing to remove the harmful substances from their sewage will have complaints filed against them and those complaints will be heard by the Granite City Water Pollution Control Board, to be appointed by the mayor and city council.

Grievances from industries against the city also will be heard by that board, McMillan said. Court action could follow the water board hearings, if either side is dissatisfied with the board's findings, he noted.

Industries which prefer to monitor and analyze their own sewage may apply to the city to do so, but must meet several standards and will have to be certified by the EPA. For most industries, it will be cheaper to let the city monitor the flow of sewage and analyze it, he predicted.

School board is preparing to reorganize

Reorganization of the Granite City Board of Education is a possibility at its May 19 meeting.

Board members said after Tuesday night's meeting that President Stephen Salich is likely to resign from the school board prior to the next session. He was elected to the City Council this spring.

Two tasks are involved in the pending, late-May reorganization—selecting a new board member for appointment to a term ending in November 1983, and choosing a new president for the period ending in November 1981.

Other officers and the present board committee assignments have been extended through November.

The new president is likely to be one of the six continuing board members, Monroe Worthen, George Moore Sr., Donald Stucke, Robert Maxwell, David Partney and Thomas Mifskey. Worthen served as acting president Tuesday night in the absence of Salich, who was at an aldermanic meeting.

Mifskey is secretary and board and board officer terms formerly began and ended in April, but have been changed to November under Illinois' consolidated election law. Also part of the November 1981 election will be balloting on Belleville Area College board candidates.

The Granite City Board of Education positions to be filled by voters this fall are held by Worthen and Mifskey.

marijuana is harmless, spread by the news media for years, is no longer true. The THC level (the chemical in marijuana which causes the "high") now is 10 times stronger than the THC level was 10 years ago in street marijuana, he said.

THC remains in the body for 30 days after smoking one marijuana cigarette and each additional cigarette smoked during that time increases the level of THC in the body. That buildup, along with the addition of other drugs to the marijuana can quickly cause addiction to heroin, hashish or cocaine, the audience was told.

Bennett showed the film, "Dead is Dead," narrated by Godfrey Cambridge, which vividly portrayed the horror of drug addiction. Holding up a candy jar filled with pills, Cambridge stated, "It's the new candy. It's dynamite and it's killing a lot of people."

Stark scenes of "junkies" going through the terrible pains of withdrawal from heroin, films of mutilated arms and legs from car accidents and other vivid sights warning of the dangers of drug use startled the audience, but left a lasting impression, according to many of those who viewed it.

Cambridge concluded the film with the suggestion that every state adopt the TIPS (Tolerance In Public) program several states use. Under that program, citizens, using pre-assigned secret numbers, alert drug agencies of suspicious drug dealings. If the agencies then "bust" a dealer and recover drugs, the informant receives a percentage of the value of the recovered drugs. In some cases the "reward" has been more than $1 million, he said.

He urged everyone to join the war against drug and marijuana. "If you do it, you and you will live and survive," Cambridge said.

After the film, Bennett warned the audience that the latest estimates of drug traffic through Florida and Georgia in the last year is about $45 billion worth. "That's what's coming at us, and it's going to take a major effort because it is all coming to the Midwest and there are plenty of takers."

The audience was given some shocking statistics by the host, Dr. Thurnace York, pastor of Tri-City Park Tabernacle. He said that 66 percent of all fatal traffic accidents in the United States are now related to drugs or alcohol and 26,000 persons are killed each year in such accidents, more than were killed throughout the Vietnam War.

Drug abuse

Palmer warned that an estimated 50 percent of all street crime in the country now is drug-related and is growing.

He also warned, "Almost everyone who is a user will become a pusher," and said drug pushing is almost the only way users, other than the very rich, can afford to support their habits.

Older papers cut the strength of the drugs they buy and keep part before selling to younger pushers. The younger pushers cut the strength further, keep some and sell to high school students. The chain continues through eighth graders, then to fifth graders and, today, to third graders, "because the pushers are looking for new customers," he related.

Jim Nichols, director of the Metropolitan Enforcement Group of Southwestern Illinois (MEGI), related that drug selling can be very profitable. He said that one ounce of "pure" heroin, hospital grade, can be purchased by medical personnel for approximately $45. If pushers get the pure heroin, they mix it to about one percent strength. The one-percent heroin is sold for $10 to $15 "per hit," netting about $2,000 on the streets for milk sugar containing only $45 worth of pure heroin. The prices for cocaine are almost identical, he added.

Perhaps the strongest talk was given by Jill Brandenberger, a registered nurse and coordinator of the Chemical Dependency Unit of Weldon Springs Hospital in St. Charles, Mo.

She operates one of only four or five such chemical dependency units in the country and sees numerous hard-core drug addicts. She gave a fictitious account as though she had gone through the steps of drug addiction, from the addiction to marijuana cigarettes through stronger smokes, pills and finally hard-core addiction.

She warned that there is no way to stop drug traffic in children except experimenting with drugs, but said that drug addiction and drug habits can be cured. The main thing is admitting the problem and then getting qualified help, such as at a chemical dependency unit.

There is a wall between parents and medical help "because parents do not want to admit they have a problem," she said.

Parents also cause part of the problem by teaching bad habits to their children. Parents waking with a stimulant pill, calming their nerves during the day with a depressant and going to sleep at night with a sleeping pill teach their children that the use of pills is acceptable. Children, in turn, will follow their parents' example, she warned.

Other speakers included Mrs. Jean Schram, coordinator of Youth Services for the Madison County Council on Alcoholism and Drug Dependency, James Dumont, principal of Granite City High School South and Chief Veizer.

Veizer told the audience, "In Granite City in 1981, if you don't think we have a drug problem, you're wrong." He said that in 1980, there were 42 drug-related arrests in Granite City and an estimated four times that many users and pushers escaped detection by police. Of those arrested, 38 were adults, over the age of 16, and 20 were juveniles with ages ranging as low as 10, Veizer related.

During a question and answer session which followed the regular program, several parents contended that the high schools should not have a smoking area, which is frequently used to smoke marijuana.

Dumont responded that the problem was much worse before there was a smoking area at South. Now, most of the smokers can be kept in one area and observed and many of those smoking marijuana near the school are being caught and punished.

A committee now is studying the problem and is expected to make recommendations in the near future, Dumont said.

The program was scheduled to go from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m., but the enthusiasm of the audience and speakers kept a lively question and answer session going until 11:15 p.m. Approximately 100 persons stayed even after the program was adjourned to talk to the speakers.

Veizer concluded the next day, "I thought it was a tremendous success and shows that the people of Granite City are concerned and want to know what to do to combat this growing problem. We're on the right track."

Venice traffic laws are revised

Venice City ordinances concerning illegal parking, vehicle registration and liquor licenses were updated at the Venice City Council meeting Tuesday night.

Minor changes which will improve public safety were made. Venice Mayor Tyrone Enchols noted that some of the ordinances were adopted by previous councilmen as long as 50 years ago. "Many of these need updating," Enchols told the aldermen, giving the example of a 1907 ordinance which states that city officials may be fired for cohabiting without a marriage license. "That's none of our business," Enchols added.

Ordinance amended at the Tuesday night meeting will be in effect 10 days after becoming posted for public viewing.

Enchols reminded the councilmen that city stickers

Hearing on area career center zone slated for May 18

A hearing will be held by the Madison County Regional Board of School Trustees on detaching the Granite City community unit from the J. Edgar Johnson Career Development Center operated by the Alton school district.

The hearing is set for 6 p.m. Monday, May 18, in Courtroom 3 at the Madison County Courthouse.

The local district has never utilized the career center's facilities. The Alton district does not, a major federal Granite City's request to withdraw from the vocational center geographic zone.

In other school developments, the Mitchell and Long Lake fire departments are donating $652 for physical education equipment to be used at Mitchell School.

Prairie Farms, Inc., is donating to the school district eight disk packs for the schools' System 3 computer. The value is about $75 for each pack.

Head Start pupils held a graduation program last night at Frohardt School. Also yesterday evening, Cub Scout Pack 22 used the Frohardt School playground area to hold its annual bicycle rodeo.

The Johnson School PTA from 3 to 10 p.m. tomorrow will conduct its annual fun festival at Johnson.

Cub Pack 17 will occupy the paved grounds at Marshall School for a rummage sale May 23 from 8 p.m. until dark.

Cynthia Hornell and Wilma Schulte will use the Granite City High School South gymnasium June 8-12 for a volleyball clinic for future seventh, eighth, and ninth graders. There will be a small fee for participation, with the funds defraying some of the cost for South volleyball players attending high school volleyball clinics at Illinois state universities.

Gene Baker will utilize the South soccer field for a kicker camp from June 29 to July 3.

SINGER TO PERFORM

Coolidge JHS Band rates high at state

Coolidge Junior High School Band students participated in the annual state solo and ensemble contest held in Maton, Ill., during the weekend and captured one first superior rating as well as 17 first place ratings and one second rating.

2nd of three closed schools is purchased

The Granite City school district has succeeded in selling two of the three elementary schools it closed two years ago.

A $71,000 bid for Stallings School from Mr. and Mrs. H. Lamar Moore of Collinsville was accepted by the Board of Education on Tuesday night. It was the highest bid received from two competing bidders at a public auction conducted Monday under the supervision of Regional School Superintendent Harold E. Briggs.

The school district previously sold McKinley School to St. Elizabeth Medical Center for $200,000. Located adjacent to SEMC, it is to be devoted to a variety of hospital-related uses.

There has been speculation that Stallings might be converted into residential apartments or utilized as a business center.

Washington School is still owned by the school district and is still a busy educational center. It is leased to Belleville Area College for the operation of a daytime college in instructional program serving the Quad-City area.

The first superior rating was awarded to Susan Stephens for an oboe solo.

First place awards went to Nancy Dimitroff and Julia Johannpeter, flute solo; Michelle Staggs and Ruth Stille, clarinet solo; Joe Atchley, David Matchett and Richard Hagen, cornet solo; David Menendez and Diane Oliver, French horn solo; Danny Graff, trombone solo; and Robert Kirkpatrick, bass solo.

First place ensembles included Ruth Stille, Michelle Staggs and Marie Bristol, mixed clarinet trio; Joe Atchley, David Matchett, John Kirkpatrick and Sean McClure, mixed brass quartet; Rob Malench and Tom Gagich, percussion duo; Mike Voss and Ricky Cain, drum duo; Frank Woods and Rob Malench, percussion quartet; and Rob Malench, Frank Woods, Mike Voss, Tom Gagich and Alan Gerard, percussion quintet.

Marie Bristol, brass clarinet solo, received a second rating.

Mrs. Julia Oyen served as piano accompanist for the group.

MAYOR MIKE SASYK greets guests at a surprise party for Madison officials who took the oath of office during the Madison City Council meeting last week. The reception was held at the Lions Hall in Madison.

Glik's marking 80th year

This year marks the 80th year that Glik's Department Stores has been serving the area. Throughout the United States, there are very few independently owned department stores the size of Glik's, where the business is still owned by the original founders. Glik's operates 14 retail stores, all on the Illinois side of the St. Louis metropolitan region.

Actually, Glik's is closer to being 100 years old. In the late 1880s or early 1890s, Joseph Glik, grandfather of the present owner, had a small shop near the dock for the ferryboat between St. Louis and Venice. The Eads Bridge had been built, but it was still easier for many to take the ferry between North St. Louis and Venice to get to work each day.

Joseph Glik's store catered primarily to the workers from Granite City, Venice and Madison, who had to daily walk past the store on the way to work. When Joseph Glik's son, Morris, graduated from high school in St. Louis at age 18, Joseph opened a store for him in Madison, which at this time, was mostly farm land.

The word Glik means "good luck" in German and that was the name Morris gave his first store, which was on Third Street, just east of Madison Avenue.

It is this store's opening in 1901 that Glik's is now celebrating. Later he moved to Fourth Street and changed the name to the "Boston Store" and in 1928 he moved to Third Street and Madison Avenue and changed the name to Glik's. This store is still in operation today as a Glik's Department Store.

Morris Glik was prosperous at his new store during the 1920s. He built a reputation for honest, considerate dealing. Although he maintained his residence in St. Louis, he took an active part in community affairs, giving liberally of both his time and money to worthwhile undertakings.

After a daughter died in childhood in 1927, he founded a visiting nurse organization in Madison and personally paid the expenses for several years, so that the benefits of expert care might be available to families unable to afford it.

Imbued with a high sense of patriotism, he performed a number of generous acts for servicemen during World War II. He sent thousands of gifts overseas to servicemen who Morris Glik heard had been depressed or had been commended for some exploit.

Morris Glik also was somewhat superstitious and always believed that if he could sell to the first customer in his store, he would have a good business day. If he could not sell to that first customer, he felt he would have a poor day.

In the early 1930s, the depression hit and during these lean years, Morris did not draw a salary and put much of his own money back into the business in order to keep it going. Also, since many of his customers had been hard hit by the depression, they had little money for clothes. He personally extended credit to his customers when no one else would, so that they would have decent clothes to wear. Gradually, times got better, Glik's survived the depression and became the dominant store in the Tri-City area.

Morris Glik died in 1944 while his son Joe was in the service. For the following four years, the business was managed by Morris' wife, Elsie, who is living. Upon graduating from Washington University, Joe took over the management of Glik's. The Madison location was completely remodeled in 1963 and in 1964 a second Glik's store was opened in the Belleme Village Shopping Center of Granite City. The Belleme Center was one of the first strip shopping centers in the area.

Realizing that small shopping centers on the outskirts of established shopping districts to be the wave of the future, Joe Glik opened two in shopping centers in East Alton, Alton, Godfrey, Cahokia, Edwardsville and Belleville.

Today, Glik's has 12 department stores in the area. In 1974, Glik's developed its own shopping center in Highland, called Northtown.

In 1980, Glik's made major moves as it entered the 1980's. Al Lerman was named president of Glik's and Joe Glik became chairman of the board. Bob and Jeff Glik, sons of the owner, became actively involved in the management of the company.

A new division was formed under which two stores were opened featuring the "off-price" concept in retailing. These stores, called No-No's, are located at the Crossroads Shopping Center in Fairview Heights and Eastgate Shopping Center in East Alton.

Glik's new president, Lerman, has set a goal of doubling the volume of the company by 1985. During the past six months, three new stores have been opened, so Glik's is well on its way

New emphasis on Illinois coal

Governor James R. Thompson has appointed Lt. Gov. Dave O'Neal to coordinate a comprehensive Illinois coal promotion program, seeking to bring together the best of both state and private resources.

O'Neal will chair a ten-member council whose goals are to expand markets for Illinois coal; intensify efforts to attract and develop a world-class synthetic fuels industry; and streamline the process for granting permits for major energy development projects in the state.

An executive order creating an eight-member energy review board to speed siting was issued at the same time, appointing heads of appropriate state agencies to coordinate licenses, permits and other approvals required for energy projects. Board chairman will be Director Frank Beal of the Illinois Institute of Natural Resources.

O'Neal will convene the Illinois Council on Coal

Development to integrate state agency coal promotion activities. The council is comprised of directors of various state agencies.

In addition, the lieutenant governor will seek private sector cooperation and assistance to increase markets for Illinois coal and promote synthetic fuel.

"With the rapidly growing interest in coal shown by industries, it is essential that Illinois have a spokesman serving as a central contact to expedite the production and use of our coal," the governor said.

The Energy Review Board, one element of the state's new coal program, will coordinate state regulatory decisions affecting proposed industrial facilities which involve various uses of coal and alternative energy sources.

The board will establish decision calendars to set firm dates by which state agencies must act on license and permit requests. It also will encourage local and federal agencies which grant similar permits to cooperate, and will add these agencies to the calendar.

"If Illinois is to ein its share of energy development projects, we must chart a swift, orderly path through the maze of rules and regulations," Thompson said. "We must help rather than hinder project sponsors in bringing new coal ventures to completion."

The coal council will work with the Department of Commerce and Community Affairs and with Illinois coal producers to strengthen international marketing.

"Coal transportation networks also will be assessed. And development of transportation facilities to assure access to export markets will be promoted," Thompson said.

"Revenues generated from expanded coal sales can provide jobs for state citizens and accelerate investment in our economy. It's time we improve the status of coal to the caliber of the outstanding agricultural and industrial marketing systems that already exist in Illinois."

"To promote synthetic fuels, Lt. Gov. O'Neal will work with potential developers — encouraging them to locate in Illinois and use our coal — as well as coordinate current state agency programs to avoid the best possible assistance to the private sector."

"New, efficient, innovative technologies are needed to transform coal into more versatile liquid and gaseous fuels."

THEFT FROM VAN

Tools worth $310 were stolen from the van of Larry Brooks, Collinsville, parked on the National Steel parking lot at 16th Street and Madison Avenue last week.

A vent window was forced open and the ignition switch was torn from the dashboard. Taken were a skill saw, an electric drill, a jig, saw and a tool box and tools.

SOUTH HIGH JOB FAIR last week included the landing of a U.S. Army helicopter on the front lawn of the school. Students were allowed to sit in the "chopper" while its crew explained its features and operation.

Representatives of the other military branches and various colleges, vocational and trade institutions also had information available during the program.

City ignores

Newsmen were not invited to either caucus and the second caucus was held at the Granite City Township hall while representatives of the media were attending the city's public hearing on the proposed sewage pretreatment program in the city hall.

The Open Meetings Act states generally that anytime three or more aldermen are to meet and discuss city business, the press must be notified in advance. The meeting may be closed to the press and the public only if the council plans to discuss personnel, negotiations or land acquisition.

Sources said an agreement between the company and the city was worked out at one of the caucuses, specifying the things the company has promised to do, but was never signed by the company.

Asked after the city council meeting about the caucuses, Mayor Schuler said it was an oversight that the press had not been notified, but said "the door was open," should anyone have wanted to attend.

The council one week earlier had decided to withhold action on the rezoning request. City Attorney John Fapa time to study pending litigation against the parent company, Pilet Brothers.

As detailed in Monday's Press-Record, railroad reclamation operations of Pilet Brothers were under a temporary state-wide injunction prohibiting them from cutting apart railroad tank cars or conducting open burning. The court order, issued by a Will County, Ill., judge said that at the Joliet facility, "the defendants, in their operation of salvage of railway cars, disregarded the (clean air) act and operated their business as if the act had not been passed by the legislature."

Papa told the council that the EPA suit in Joliet stemmed basically from one accident in which a tank car was being cut apart with torches and one contained sulphur dioxide fumes, which exploded. Fumes drifted to a nearby bottling company, causing some employees to be ill temporarily, but none were serious.

He said the company also was cited for approximately 50 to 60 incidents of open burning of wood and chemicals between 1973 and 1980. The preliminary injunction against the company remains in effect, Papa said, and the company agreed to stop open burning and not to receive or dismantle tanker cars with dangerous residues.

"The company has taken steps to comply," Papa said and he noted there have been no contempt of court citations, indicating that the compliance with the court order has been satisfactory.

The company now accepts only "clean" railroad cars and neither the state nor the company's employees are attempting to stop operations at the Joliet facility, Papa said.

He noted a second suit pending against the company deals with a family dispute on pension and profit sharing and should have no effect on a local operation.

Papa also said that the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) has never found it necessary to file an enforcement action against Pilet Brothers or its companies.

Paula Case, head of the city's air pollution control department, also referred to her study into the likely effects of the proposed company on air pollution.

She concluded that the company intends to follow procedures which will prevent major accidental fires and will not touch cut tank cars which contain dangerous chemical residues. An adequate water system will be maintained to prevent accidental fires and there will be no intentional open burning, she said.

The company intends to remove the gasoline tanks from autos it will crush and the batteries will be sold to battery recycling operations, so there should be no pollution or danger of explosion from auto smelting, Mrs. Case said. If the company installs a non-ferrous metal crusher in the future, proper air pollution equipment will be required to prevent emissions from exceeding state or federal standards, she added.

"Understandably, the industry will be less aesthetically pleasing than an open field, so in an attempt to minimize the change, the industry proposes to fence in the area. The addition of trees and other vegetation in the future could improve the area, as well as minimize any noise and vibration problems that might exist," she said.

She concluded, "Air pollution problems will be minimal, if any, due to the constraints listed above which will be imposed on the company in order to obtain construction and operating permits because of the need for good quality metal from smelting operations for die casting, emissions of any heavy metals, pollutants such as lead, cadmium and others, would be nil and subject to strict control."

"Assurances will be made to limit emissions of any type in order to obtain necessary permits. Therefore, no air pollution problems are foreseen. Noise and vibration will be kept to a minimum, since a shredding operation is not planned," her report noted.

Persons in the audience carried signs stating, "Junkyarders are unsightly," "A 30-acre site," "Air pollution stinks—so will this plant," "Neighborhood beauty, not neighborhood pollution," "Let the past record speak for itself" and other sayings.

Mrs. Donna Peterson, 4115 Melrose Ave., was allowed to address the council and she pleaded for more time so the residents of the area can organize opposition to the reclamation yard. "It's going to hurt so many people I hope you will give us a little more time," she stated.

Alderman Bowler submitted petitions bearing more than 500 signatures of nearby residents opposed to the industry. Alderman Jake Varadani submitted similar petitions bearing approximately 125 signatures from the Fifth Ward and a letter was presented from Christ Paschoff, supervisor of Venice Township, on behalf of Benjamin Subdivision residents opposing the rezoning for the plant due to fears of smoke, gases and other problems.

Alderman Decatur asked that the wording on the petitions be read and City Clerk Robert W. Stevenson complied. Mayor Schuler commented on published reports on the lawsuits against the Pilet Brothers and said, "The aldermen have had time to publish." (Editor's note—The Press-Record published all pertinent information on the subject made available.)

Andrew DiGiuseppi, manager for Reclaimed Iron and Metal, said the site for the plant was selected because the area is the second largest area in the state for rail traffic, topped only by Chicago, making Granite City conducive for a scrap industry.

Some persons in the audience compared the proposed salvage operation with Luria Brothers on East 23rd Street where cut tanks were being melted and have caused smoke and noise. "Lately, it sounds like thunder," one man contended.

Another man said the top of every railroad car is loaded and he believed that harmful lead would be released into the air through torch cutting. "We are going to end up with nothing but filth. I know it," the man told the council.

Alderman Bowler said the council should be concerned about the location, because there is a food processing industry (Shasta) next door and down wind. "The jeopardy of the area cannot be overlooked. People have said they don't want it and the council is either going to have to let them determine their fate or the council will determine their fate. With this many signatures, let them determine their own fate," Bowler pleaded.

Cecil Phelps, 308 Nameoki Drive, gave an angry talk, contending that trucks will line up along the already poor Missouri Avenue roadway, causing congestion and expensive maintenance of the road.

"Why can't you put this 30, 40 or 50 miles into the country and build your own rail track? There shouldn't be this kind of urgency," Phelps said, adding, "We don't need to be the pollution capital of the world."

Schuler responded, "You are concerned tonight, but obviously, your concern does not carry over into tomorrow and the next day," Phelps disagreed.

DiGiuseppi said the new plant will employ about six persons at first and hopes to double that within the first six months. Eventually, it could employ up to 50 or 60 persons, all members of the American Steelworkers of America, he noted. One woman in the audience quipped that the city could allow a fast-food restaurant to locate there which would employ nearly as many people, with far fewer problems.

DiGiuseppi pledged that personnel would be brought from Joliet only to train local people and they would return to Joliet at some time when the training had been completed. Schuler later commented privately that North Granite residents will receive a top priority for jobs.

Schuler told the council, "There has been plenty of discussion. The important thing is whether you have enough confidence in the reports made available to you. We are talking up to 50 jobs. A lot of people in Granite City, if they thought they would be employed, would be here to voice their approval." He asked for a motion to accept the recommendation of the Plan Commission, which is to grant M-2 zoning for the property.

The motion to approve was made by Alderman Fisk and was seconded by Alderman Kittel. The 8-6 vote in favor followed.

It also rejected the two faculty requests it had received for sabbatical leaves in 1981-82.

Retirements were approved for Dolores Yates, a secretary at Prather Junior High School and an employee of the school district for 23 years; Mary Gwin, a GCHS South cafeteria employee who has been with the district eight years; and John Grobolski, a GCHS South custodian.

A unique program of exploratory faculty leaves was established by the board on a trial basis for the 1981-82 school year. Officials of school board associations regard the plan as a "first" that is likely to receive wide attention.

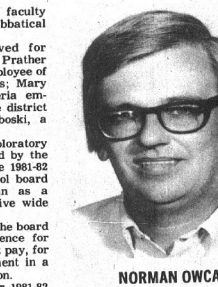

The new policy relates that the board "may grant a leave of absence for certificated personnel, without pay, for one year to explore employment in a different career than education."

"This policy is in effect for 1981-82 only and will be reviewed prior to the 1982-83 school year. The superintendent is responsible for the issuance and execution of appropriate administrative policy, rules and regulations."

Rules will limit exploratory leaves to those with at least six consecutive

Collinsville man abducted and shot

A Collinsville man was reported in stable condition today at St. Elizabeth Medical Center after being abducted at gunpoint last Friday and shot four or five times.

The victim, 35-year-old John Haverman, said he was forced at gunpoint into his car on the parking lot of Grandpa's store, 8011 Oliveville Road.

The gunman then forced Haverman to drive the car to a gravel road north of Interstate 270, where he was ordered to get out of the car.

The gunman, described as a teen-aged male with shoulder-length brown hair, then shot Haverman four to five times with a large caliber gun.

Haverman walked approximately a half-mile back to Highway 111, where he was found by passing motorists and was taken for medical treatment.

His car was recovered the next day near where he left it, but the suspect has not yet been apprehended, according to a spokesman for the Illinois Division of Criminal Investigation. The case remains under investigation, he noted.

1,700,000 Illinois elderly

Governor James R. Thompson, in designating May as Older Americans Month in Illinois, notes that this state has more than 1.7 million people aged 60 and older among its population.

Many of these older Americans will gather to voice their concerns about issues facing the aged at the 1981 Illinois White House Conference on Aging, he predicted.

The Illinois conference, a prelude to the national conference to be held Nov. 30 through Dec. 3, is scheduled during Older Americans Month on May 27 and 28 in Champaign-Urbana.

Peg R. Blaser, director of the Illinois Department on Aging, says, "1981 will be a landmark year for older Americans, especially older Americans, especially older Illinoisans."

"It is not only the year of the White House Conference on Aging, a once-a-decade event, Gov. Thompson also has declared 1981 the Year of the Senior Citizen in Illinois."

"It will be another ten years before older Americans receive the same amount of well-deserved attention. We must all take the opportunity now to get involved in the issues facing the elderly. The results of the 1981 White House conference will affect many people. This conference will set national precedent for the near and long-term future."

The number to call to voice opinions between now and the state meeting is 217-785-3355.

Rock—at SIUE around the clock

By JOSEPH DANIEL

"A straggling piece of rock" is a remnant of the Mississippi River "meander"? This is one of the questions on the minds of students, faculty, staff and visitors who pass by the rock on the Morris Quadrangle of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

The rock may seem significant, but it has achieved prominence among some university organizations—Greek fraternities and sororities—and has also been an integral part of the campus tour.

Charles Cox, SIUE photographer, says, "The rock a quartz component, was put there in 1964 or 1965 by a company which supplied the quartz aggregate for the university buildings."

The University Information Center suggests it was a gift from a Colorado granite company which supplied building materials for the construction of the university.

Cox recalls that some students poured tar and also placed some feathers on the rock as a stunt. This, he said, upset university authorities, who were bent on punishing the students involved. However, after much deliberation, no disciplinary action was taken.

A year after this tradition began, one of the fraternities drilled a hole in the rock and broke into halves—one half beneath the ground and the other above.

A painting tradition which began over two decades ago is still being observed today.

"It is one of the many activities for pledges, trying to get into an organization," said Debra Pharms, secretary of the Fraternity and Sorority Conference of SIUE and a member of Alpha Kappa Alpha sorority.

"When it is painted, it shows that a fraternity or sorority has a pledge club," she added.

Considering her statements, it is no wonder that the rock has been given various names. To some it is the "Anxiety Rock" or "Fraternity-Sorority Rock," and to others it is simply "Morris Quadrangle Rock."

By whichever name it is called, it is the best known rock on the university campus.

County Homemakers group elects Mrs. Brinkmeyer, Mrs. Adams

"You remember folklore longer than anything else you've learned," said Dr. John Oldani, associate professor of American Studies at SIUE. He was the featured speaker at the Homemakers Extension Association 45th annual meeting held in Highland. Displaying quilts from the university's archives, Dr. Oldani described quilting as an art form that records history — a trip west in a covered wagon, or what it meant to fighting a civil war. "Quilting reflects ideas — events that occurred in the person's life. It is their rendition of what they saw," he commented.

Opening the morning portion of the program was County HEA President Carol Baumann of Highland. A welcome to the 290 members and guests from 31 county units was offered by Laurie Thurnau, St. Jacob, Southeast District chairman. Anna Reising, Hamel, gave the invocation. Norma Schon, Moro, led the group in the pledge of allegiance. Helen Miller, Granite City, read minutes of the 1980 annual meeting. Carol Baumann gave the membership report, and the budget was presented by Anna Shoemate, St. Jacob. Past presidents of the organization were inroduced and included: Stella Engelke, Hamel; Mildred Drecht, Alhambra; Clara Long and Shirley Stahlhut of Edwardsville; Mae Mott, Troy; Leta Plocher, Highland; and Eileen Becker, Moro.

Reports of University of Illinois Cooperative Extension Service activities during 1980-81 were given by Extension Advisers Doris Sebold, Geraldine Bower and Catherine Mauck. Anna Shoemate presented a slate of officers for election: Mary Emmons, Troy, second vice-president; Anna Reising, Hamel, treasurer; Mrs. Arline Brinkmeyer, Granite City, citizenship, community outreach and safety director; Jean Wehling, Alhambra, family relationships, food and nutrition, and recreation director; and Mrs. Lillian Adams, Granite City, special activities director. They were elected.

Officers and directors remaining in the same positions are Carol Baumann, Highland, president; Shirley Stahlhut, Edwardsville, first vice-president; Helen Miller, Granite City, secretary; Louise Snyder, Troy, cultural arts, textiles and clothing director; Flo Read, international director; and Norma Meyer, Edwardsville, public information director.

Leta Plocher, Highland, a past president, installed the officers and directors.

Mrs. Baumann presented the blue ribbon citation to the Marine, Saline-Helvetia and Tuesday units and recognized the Troy unit as recipient of the Florence Johnson traveling gavel for having the largest percentage net gain in membership. Receiving honorable mention was Saline-Helvetia, which also was the unit that had the largest percentage and biggest number of members in attendance.

Decorations for the day followed a spring flower theme.

Traffic death ratio up over last year

Four persons died in traffic accidents in the Granite City area during April, bringing to 12 the total number of fatalities in this area in the first four months of the year.

The 12 fatalities are an increase of 33 percent over the nine deaths occurring during the same period a year ago and is an increase of 100 percent over the six fatalities reported during the first four months of 1979.

Four fatalities during April was the same number reported during April 1980, but an increase of two over the two traffic deaths reported the previous month.

Forty-three accidents in which drivers or passengers were injured were reported last month, an increase over the 34 accidents reported in April a year ago, according to statistics compiled by the Police-Record.

A total of 64 persons were injured in those accidents, compared to 53 last year. The statistics brought to 127 the number of accidents during the four-month period of the year. This compares with 114 personal injury accidents for the same period a year ago.

One hundred ninety-six persons were injured during the four-month period this year, up from the 163 injured over the first four-month period of 1980, statistics show.

The 12 traffic deaths so far this year is 41.6 percent of the total of 29 fatalities during the 12 months of 1980, which is itself was an increase of 129 percent over the 13 traffic deaths reported in 1979.

Unemployment climb noted by state study

Unemployment throughout Southwestern Illinois increased in March over February, according to the latest available figures from the state Department of Labor.

The average unemployment in the Madison, Monroe, St. Clair, Bond, Calhoun, Jersey and Clinton County area was 11.6 percent, up from 11.1 percent in February, according to R.L. Worden of the research and analysis division.

In Granite City, unemployment rose from 13.5 percent in February to 14.4 percent in March, remaining higher than East St. Louis, which had a 12.1 percent unemployment rate during March, the figures show. Studies show 2,731 persons in Granite City are out of work.

Of an available work force of 18,904 in March, 16,173 persons were gainfully employed, according to Worden's figures. That compares to a workforce of 18,677 in February, of which 16,164 were employed.

Belleville is the only city among those in the area studied which had a higher unemployment rate with 15.3 percent. Unemployment in Belleville declined in March from 15.7 percent in February.

Madison County continued to have higher unemployment than St. Clair County during the period studied, the figures indicate. Unemployment grew from 11.4 percent to 12 percent in Madison County from February to March while St. Clair County's unemployment climbed from 10.7 percent to 11.1 percent during the same period.

In Madison County, the available workforce totaled 115,289 in March, of which 101,399 were working, Worden noted. St. Clair County had 115,467 persons employed from a workforce of 129,926.

For the seven-county study area, the workforce increased from 267,123 in February to 268,654 persons in March while the number of persons "employed" remained steady, increasing only from 237,461 persons in February to 237,616 in March, Worden's studies showed.

Seat new Chouteau trustee

Josephine Burgener was officially seated Monday night as a new member of the Chouteau Town Board of Trustees, replacing Charles Lexow, who retired at the end of his term.

She had taken the oath of office, along with all other township officials, at the April 30 meeting.

The board was told that of approximately 85 sewer tap-on grant applications taken by the township from low-income residents, the Community Development office in Edwardsville has denied about a dozen of the applications.

The primary reason for rejection of some of the applications was that Social Security raises received in July put some of those who applied over the income maximums of the program. It was noted that they were eligible when their applications were submitted to the county, but the raises have since made them ineligible.

Eligible families are being given 100 percent aid in tapping their home sewers into the new county sanitary sewers. A portion of the township's allocation of Community Development funds is being used for the program, and the Edwardsville office has already let

BOY HIT BY CAR
Seven-year-old Michael Shearlock, 2541 Cleveland Blvd., was injured when he was struck by the auto of Stanley Bula, 2406 W. 23rd St., at 27th Street and Edison Avenue last week. Michael was one of two small boys who walked from between parked cars onto 27th Street and into the path of the oncoming car, which skidded about 36 feet, striking Michael and narrowly missing the other boy. Michael was taken by a Granite City ambulance to St. Elizabeth Medical Center for treatment.

POSSESSION CHARGED
A 16-year-old Terrace Lane boy was arrested and charged with reckless driving when police saw his car being driven in a reckless manner at Nameoki Road and Victory Drive. While booking the juvenile, police alleged finding a plastic bag of marijuana and also charged him with possession of cannabis.

APARTMENT LOOTED
A 1926 silver dollar valued at $150 was stolen from an apartment of Richard Mizerski of Cleveland Boulevard, he reported Friday. Also missing are a white gold ring, a silver belt buckle and a gold watch.

3-year pact at Conalco ratified

United Steelworkers of America Local 4804, has reached agreement on a new three-year contract with consolidated Aluminum Corp., replacing a pact which expired April 30. The new contract provides for wages and benefits generally consistent with the major agreement reached between the United Steelworkers and the aluminum industry. The contract provides for wage increases of 60 cents over the life of the contract, in addition to continuation of the current cost of living provisions. The company, located in Madison, achieved several changes in shop practices, which provide for greater productivity in plant operations. Ratification was completed in a meeting at the American Legion Hall in VENICE and received strong support from the membership of Local 4804. Negotiating for the Steelworkers' international union was Robert Means, sub-district director. Negotiating for Consolidated Aluminum Corporation was Carl Sulter, director of human relations.

Alton Telegraph is providing vitally needed services

The $9.2 million libel judgment against the Alton Telegraph in favor of building contractor James Green in June 1980 is receiving regional and national attention this year.

In our last issue, we presented the opinion of Congressman Paul Findley that the award is excessive (it has forced the Telegraph into seeking debt reorganization under bankruptcy regulations) and that the courts should protect citizens who contact law enforcement agencies to verify unfounded speculation affecting others' reputations. The Press-Record today presents its comments. We are highly interested because:

—We do not want to see a strongly independent neighboring newspaper go out of existence.

—We want to see the subjects of newspaper coverage treated with fairness and accuracy.

—The Madison County political and financial arena is part of our coverage responsibility, just as it is the Telegraph's responsibility.

—One of the two former Telegraph reporters linked to the case is a former Press-Record reporter (many years ago).

—The libel trial took place in Granite City.

Local residents are involved in this case and in several pending lawsuits against the Telegraph, having been mentioned in its sensationalist, untruthful, and unbalanced coverage in the 1968-69 period by the Alton reporters and sent to the U. S. Justice Department.

—And the caliber of the Third Circuit and the entire Illinois judicial system affects Quad-Cityans as much as it affects Altonians.

As noted, we would like to see the Telegraph continue its 145-year service to its five-county region. This statement does not mean, nor should it be taken to mean, that we think our thinking exactly harmonizes with the Alton daily in all respects. No two individuals and no two newspapers see their surroundings in precisely the same way, nor do any individuals or papers perfect.

Speaking generally, rather than of specific situations, we can look back over the years to 1968 as a horrendous year. We have been aggressive in fighting the powers-that-be whenever we saw what appeared to be a major injustice. In Madison County, certainly, our building has the bullet holes to prove that we have not been uncaring or unseeing or silent. And we have clearly succeeded in helping this community and county discourage underworld activity.

Despite our aggressiveness, we have avoided suits of the massive kind encountered by the aggressive Telegraph. Perhaps part of the reason is a public perception (in this context, the point is not whether such a perception is correct or incorrect) that the Telegraph sometimes has "shot from the hip" in its crusading zeal.

(The public perception has worried the Telegraph quite a lot—the attitude of jurors, and the attitude of court officers charged by the public. Long before it was known who would hear the case, the Republican-leaning newspaper was fearful, noting that nearly all of the circuit judges were Democratic.)

The mention of our own avoidance of libel may seem a little self-serving, which we are not. Our next lawsuit may be "just around the corner."

And we did not have to contend in our own home town with a financial institution that seemed to be transacting its business in unusual and inappropriate ways. (The complicated libel case involves forwarding of part of the memo from the Justice Department to the Federal Home Loan Bank Board, which thereupon acted to limit the financial institution's loan practices; the limitation then had an impact on the building contractor.)

The Telegraph deserves applause for the probing nature of its approach to its news-gathering duties.

In the case under discussion, the Telegraph saw a duty and responded; nobody else was being hurt; the degree of coverage that the Telegraph gave to the Alton-based institution that ultimately was merged out of existence; local financiers say in praise of the Telegraph intense spotlight on the loan firm probably was warranted.

In addition to the unpublished memo on which the Green case hinged, numerous articles were published, with headlines of a size and content impossible to ignore. But these articles did not include the unpublished speculation and have not been made the target of the various suits.

After the trial, jurors said they became convinced that Green had been thriving business which—due to a chain of events—was brought to a halt.

They next considered the amount of damage that had occurred and concluded that it had been substantial—"This guy lost everything he had"—hence their $9.2 million award (about two or three times the estimated worth of the newspaper).

Critics of the size of the award say that the severity of the punishment does not fit the crime, if there was a crime.

They point out that the newspaper and its insurers are unable to pay the amount of the judgment, nor can the Telegraph post the seven-figure appeal bond that would ordinarily be necessary in order to seek a review by a higher court.

Implicit in the critics' viewpoint is the question of whether the court system is capable of extreme excess.

They worry over a series of facts, even if unrelated:

—This region's judges and its trial and injury lawyers, who spend freely in judicial campaigns, tend to be Democratic.

—Chief Illinois Supreme Court Justice Joseph Goldenshuler of nearby St. Clair County is a Democrat who generally appears politically well-connected.

—The Democratic Party, viewed since the Franklin D. Roosevelt era as the "party of the little fellow and the blue collar worker" is by far the most popular among local residents, including those picked for juries.

—And the Third Judicial Circuit attracts suits from a wide geographic area, partly due to its image as a locale where liberal-thinking jurors are willing to "sock it to" big fellows, such as railroads, industries, large lines and insurance firms.

To the extent that local courts seem "easy" and therefore may have become exceptional attractors to plaintiffs from across the nation, there is diminished confidence—in their findings, and in the very process that guides them in reaching decisions.

We frankly do not know whether there is substance to the allegation or merely the appearance of one-sided verdicts.

But in either case, it ought to be studied and dealt with in some fashion by some responsible authority. Appearance alone can be detrimental to the healthy functioning of the judicial circuit in future months and years.

Entirely apart from the Alton Telegraph case, the new being raised cries out for resolution.

Regarding the libel case itself, we are pulled in opposite directions, nor that we have read the memo and are glad we did not author it. Several Quad-Cityans were mentioned in a derogatory way, without any visible proof of what was said about them.

Those named are understandably angry about it, even though it was never published in a newspaper.

The difficult questions now posed are whether these persons were harmed and, if so, how badly—the same kind of painful mental consideration that held the 1968 trial.

In hindsight, it was unwise to put into writing unsubstantiated ideas, even if lured to do so by a federal agent and by an assumption that there would be total confidentiality. Accusations of possible wrongdoing need to be based on tangible evidence or court proceedings, not rumors or guilt by association.

The publisher and the editor of the Telegraph conduct themselves in a highly responsible way. They were not aware that the memo was being written, nor that it would be shown by anyone to anyone in the 1975-76 period.

A "follow-up" article on such a sensitive issue as this at late date should not have been considered by a reporter or his immediate supervisor, without management's approval. But testimony at the Green trial indicated the memo may have been shown to a former financial official, apparently triggering the litigation that has since developed.

The First Amendment's guarantee of freedom of the press was not a major topic at the trial but it looms large in the Telegraph's current thinking.

Due to the Alton setting, it is impossible not to think back to 1837, when Elijah P. Lovejoy of the Alton Observer became this nation's principal martyr to the principle of press freedom.

The Lovejoy monument in Alton quotes him as saying, "...As long as I am an American citizen as long as American blood runs in these veins, I shall hold myself at liberty to speak, to write, to publish..." He tried to defend his printing press from a mob, but was shot to death.

One is not free to operate a printing press when it has been burned and its operator has been murdered.

Neither is one free to operate a printing press when it has been confiscated to settle one's debts.

2nd study on school food program savings

A new subsidiary of St. Elizabeth Medical Center, Providence Management Services, Inc., was hired by the Granite City Board of Education on Tuesday night.

For $2,700, Providence will make a second-phase study leading to recommendations on possible changes in the school lunch program. An initial review of the school cafeteria was carried out previously by Peat, Marwick, Mitchell & Co.

School Supt. B. J. Davis told the board, "We have received two proposals for a study of the cafeteria functions."

"Many recommendations made by Peat, Marwick, Mitchell have been implemented, and additional steps to implement other proposals in that report are continuing," Davis said.

"In the discussion, there was a possibility expressed that a more in-depth study on certain portions would be helpful."

"By selecting one of the two firms now to follow up on this study, there will be time for it to do on-site visitation while schools are still in session."

Charles E. Beyer, vice-president of Providence Management and Medical Services, said, "Peat, Marwick, Mitchell (PEM) executive vice-president) and I appreciated the opportunity to visit with you to discuss the food service program. We feel an in-depth analysis of the day-to-day operation will be of great assistance to you and the cafeteria management staff in reducing the large deficit encountered with present operations."

"Since operational effectiveness is one of the keys to reducing this deficit, we propose a management and operational study conducted by personnel who have had many years of experience with food service operations. It will include:

1. Evaluate methods whereby student participation can be increased. This will include Type A meal and a la carte menu review and, where practical, student and teacher input.

2. Evaluate management control and supervision of the school operation.

3. Determine raw food costs and evaluate pricing of the present menu.

4. Evaluate food production procedures and determine potential for improved menu and possible labor-saving equipment.

5. Evaluate the quality of food being prepared, as well as the training of food preparation and serving personnel.

6. Evaluate purchasing procedures, inventory and security control, and receiving and inspection procedures.

7. Evaluate present record-keeping procedures to ensure accuracy of data and make recommendations for possible changes in current staffing levels.

8. Evaluate nutritional aspects of the food service program by our registered American Dietetic Association dietitian.

9. Determine the feasibility of establishing satellite operations (one cafeteria serving several nearby schools) for some or all schools, including labor considerations, equipment requirements, transportation needs, cost estimates and cost savings."

"Total costs will not exceed $3,700 without prior approval of the school district."

DEPUTY DIRECTOR OF 13 ADULT PRISONS

Governor James R. Thompson has appointed Leo L. Meyer of Lincoln as deputy director of the Department of Corrections' Adult Division.

An employee of the Illinois correctional system since 1961, Meyer, 46, has been working in the Correctional Center, a medium-security institution housing 760 inmates, since June 1978.

In his new post, he will be responsible for day-to-day operations of the state's 13 adult prisons, with a total population of more than 12,000.

The city of Madison yesterday took initial steps toward building a second city bridge. Construction is tentatively planned to start late in 1957, with the Mississippi river span being opened to traffic in 1960. With the city council having gone on record to proceed with the bridge preparations Tuesday night, Mayor Stephen Maeras yesterday advised St. Louis Mayor Raymond R. Tucker of the plans and instructed Bridge Engineer Robert B. Brooks to begin preparing an application for a permit from the waterways division of the Illinois state department of public works and buildings.

A new bond issue program is planned and tolls on the new bridge would be higher than on the companion structure after 1963. The two two-lane spans would become one-way bridges upon opening of the second bridge, one handling westbound traffic and the other eastbound.

The new $350 million jetport for St. Louis will be built in Illinois — 19 miles southeast of St. Louis in a triangle between Waterloo, Columbia and Millstadt. The huge site is about 20 miles south of the Quad-Cities. The site selection study evaluated 13 possible sites in Missouri and Illinois and made preliminary engineering studies of three prime Illinois sites.

Executive Director Arven H. Saunders of the St. Louis Metropolitan Airport Authority said the new airport will encompass between 14,000 and 20,000 acres. Initially, there will be two main runways 10,000 feet long and expandable to 12,000 feet, augmented by an 8,000-foot crosswind runway.

When Governor Thompson signed H.B. 3250 into law Sept. 15, 1980, he correctly called the measure the first step in reforming the burden of workers' compensation in Illinois.

In the area of medical and hospital costs, it's time now for the General Assembly to take the next step by enacting H.B. 3251, which will promote consistency of care of injured workers, and also make it possible to curtail excessive and needless costs caused by unwarranted treatment and excessive fees.

Much can and is being done by insurance companies already, and more is planned.

1. Setting up a schedule of maximum reasonable and hospital charges to be made for the care of injured workers.

2. Providing a system for professional review of charges or of treatment which is subjected to questioning.

3. Making certain that the employee is held free of liability for any fees or charges which are finally

Former teammates meet on the 'old home field'

By TOM SCHOCKER
of the Press Record
GRANITE CITY — For
four years, Eldon Warfield and Tom Hennrich played

for the Granite City South baseball team. They were teammates and became close friends. They also played three years of American Legion ball together. Warfield was a year ahead of Hennrich in school. When they graduated, they went their separate ways. Now when they meet on the baseball field, it's from opposing benches.

Warfield's high school days ended in 1977 and he's presently a senior on the St. Louis University baseball team. Hennrich graduated a year later and now attends Illinois State University. He's a junior. Hennrich's baseball career also continued with the Redbird squad. It's always sad to lose a close teammate, but the way both colleges worked their baseball schedule, Warfield and Hennrich still get to meet each other at least once a season. Last Friday, St. Louis and Illinois State hooked up for a double-header at Granite City South field. Other than playing for different teams, the reunion was enjoyable for both players. "I love playing against Eldon," said Hennrich, who is the starting second baseman for the Redbirds. "You get motivated a lot more because you're playing against somebody you know. You get up so much that you have key yourself down."

With Hennrich playing at second and Warfield, the Billkins' third baseman, there is always the desire to test each other's abilities during the game. "When I play against Eldon, I always want to drop a bunt against him," said Hennrich. "You have to use him. I'm sure he looks at the game the same way. He would try and use me, too."

But both players see the confrontation in the same light. Although neither one would want the other to get embarrassed, they still play hard against each other. Competitors on the field and friends off the field. "I want to beat Illinois State, but inside I want Tom to do good," said Warfield. "It's fun to play against him."

Playing against an old friend might be new for Hennrich. For Warfield, though, the newness was worn off. "I played against Keith Champion for the first time when I was a freshman and he was playing for Southwest Missouri State," said Warfield. "I also got to play against Paul Evans when he was at SIU-Carbondale." Both Champion and Evans were former teammates with Warfield in high school.

So, it's not like the first Warfield has had the opportunity to meet up with old friends on the baseball field. But there is still the feeling of competition. "I get a chance to razz him every once and a while," said Hennrich. "Like, when I was on third and wanted to tag up on a fly ball, Eldon would try and screen me from the play. It's like a cat and mouse game."

Both individuals felt that while all on the field and during the playing of the game, it's all business. However, there are moments when talk of old times is well in order.

"During the game, Tom is just another batter at the plate," said Warfield. "But if he hits a home run, I'll shake his hand as he rounds the bases or during a time out we'll talk, because we're the greatest of friends."

So, when these two friends meet up, it's not only St. Louis versus Illinois State, it's also Hennrich against Warfield. "Last year I hit two home runs off of St. Louis," said Hennrich with a chuckle.

"We have battles to see who has the better series," said Warfield. "Last time it was all Tommy and me. He hit two home runs and I had about seven base hits. It's not pressure. It's more like your insides are coming out, because the memories come back."

Hennrich won the opening battle as Illinois State captured the first game over St. Louis 10-6 Friday. But Warfield had the last laugh when his Billkins took the nightcap 8-2. Even during the first game as a ball was hit to Warfield at third, you could hear Hennrich yell, "Boo it, boo the ball!" and a loud

ST. JACOBS — When you're good, the victories seem to get easier as the season goes on. The Granite City South tennis team has shifted into high gear. It posted its ninth straight win of the year here Monday, a 5-0 rout of Triad raised the Warriors' overall record to an impressive 14-3.

South had matters well in hand as the match saw Triad gain just five game wins. Number one singles, John Menendez, breezed 6-0, 6-0 over Scott Darling. George Sykes had little trouble with Roy Mullinix, 6-1 and 6-0 as did Warrior Ed Schmalbach with Steve Hodebecker, 6-1 and 6-0.

The Warriors' first doubles team of Tom Longus and Matt Scheridan won easily, 6-1, 6-0. South's Don Cook and Todd Angle gave up the most wins to the Knights in one match, but still dominated, winning 6-1 and 6-1.

With only three matches left on the regular season schedule, the Warriors look to their tenth win in a row with a home meet against Wood River tonight at 4 p.m.

Eagles over Trojans on 'senior skip day'

MADISON — The Columbia Eagles boys track team edged the Madison Trojans here Monday 78-45. But don't give the Eagles all the credit. Some of it should go to a tradition as old as high schools.

You see, Monday was "senior skip day" at Madison High. It won't appear on any school district calendars. It's not an official school holiday. But as long as there've been high schools, there have been senior skip days. It's harmless. But Monday, it wasn't exactly harmless to the Trojans' track efforts.

Many of the events that would have been manned down by seniors against Columbia had to be taken care of by underclassmen. Madison, nonetheless, was able to make it close, giving an indication of just how strong the Trojans' team is becoming. They won the 400 meter relay in a time of 48.9 seconds. Manning down the squad were Darnell Dixon, Shawn Brown, Tryone Manzy and Charles Fuller.

The same four also won the 800 meter relay with a time of 1:41.09 for Madison.

Perhaps the biggest hero of the day for Madison was Kevin Brown. The Trojan discus thrower was forced into the triple jump because of the absence of the seniors. He'd never competed in the triple jump, but came in first with a distance of 38 feet, two inches. Brown also won the discus with a toss of 114-10.

Madison's John Latham was second at 99-9.

Trojans Charles Fuller and Darnell Dixon ran one two in the 220, with times of 24.5 and 25.2 respectively.

Fuller also won the 100 meter dash in 11.13 seconds. Kevin Sulkamp of Columbia was second at 11.49, followed by Trojan A.C. Ware in 11.59. Dixon, a senior, won the 300 low hurdles in 47.32. Ware was second in 49.07.

By the time the mile relay rolled around, Madison was out of runners. Columbia won it in 3:59.54. "By that time, we were using shot putters in there," said Madison head coach Charles Steptoe.

Trojan Bernard Harper won the shot put with a distance of 40-6 1/2. Latham was third.

East hangs on to down Warriors, 2-1

By TOM SCHOCKER
of the Press Record
BELLEVILLE — Watching Granite City South play baseball here Wednesday was like watching someone throw darts. You seem to wait in anticipation. After enough attempts, the bulls eye will get hit. The final stroke for the Warriors never came. And it wasn't that they didn't have their chances.

Maybe South was given too many opportunities. But after many opportunities, Belleville East, Warrior head coach John Modica would have liked to see his team to come though on just one.

"I'm happy and I'm sad," said Modica. "I'm happy because we got good pitching today. But I'm disappointed that we didn't get the hits when we needed them."

The Warriors can feel good that they gave East a tough game. The Lancers came in with a respectable 17-5 record. Other than East's two-run first, the Warrior batters and the South defense held the Lancers in check for six innings.

However, South should kick itself for giving the game away.

Lancer starting pitcher, Rick Schmidt, was unusually, the lead-off hitter and touched base when South booted his grounder to start the first. After Schmidt stole second and went to third on a throwing error, Warrior starting pitcher Rick Daily retired the next two batters.

But the error came back to haunt South as a walk and two consecutive hits gave

East the early lead. One that turned out to last. "This team (East) knows when a pitcher gets out of his groove," said Lancer head coach Larry Patton. "They pick up momentum better than any other team I have ever coached."

"We gave them the game in the very first inning," said Modica. "If we make the game on the lead-off hitter, the inning would have been over and they (East) wouldn't have scored."

So, you can't fault Daily and his efforts, although he is the one who will have to hold the line. He allowed just two base runners in the next three innings while striking out six including the side in the fourth. And one of the runners that did reach base was on another error in which catcher Steve Flicker quickly erased by picking him off first.

Randy Cann took over for Daily in the fifth. He walked the first man he faced and then set down the final six batters in order. "Those guys (Daily and Cann) did a hell of a job," said Modica.

The pitchers did their job. After South racked Alton for 10 runs on 10 hits just last Monday, Modica is still wondering were the offense was. South had East on the ropes in practically every inning.

Salukis take lead in Valley

CARBONDALE — The Southern Illinois University-Carbonale team came to play when it counted the most as the Salukis swept a four-game weekend series (May 2-5) at Abe Martin Field over the Indiana State Sycamores to take a commanding two-game lead in the Missouri Valley Conference's Eastern Division. SIUC needs to win only one of its four remaining conference games to capture the division title.

If the Salukis (6-2 in the Valley, and 26-13 overall) win one game this weekend (May 9-10) against Bradley (6-6 in the Valley) then they will advance to the MVC tournament May 15-17 and face Western Division winner Wichita State in a best-of-three-game series.

The Salukis have now won five straight and may have finally started the team's annual winning streak. The Salukis' victories have come from a healthy effort by an injury-riddled team. SIUC is without the services of catcher Gary Kempton, shortstop Mike Mesh and utility freshman Mike Robertson from Granite City North. Kempton has an injured left wrist, Mesh has a severely bruised right shoulder and Robertson has possible ligament and cartilage damage in his left knee.

Sophomore Joe Richardson has hit .524 in his past seven games after moving

Robertson sidelined

CARBONDALE — Mike Robertson, a freshman at SIUC-Carbonale from Granite City North, has seen considerable action this baseball season for the Salukis. But that has most likely come to a halt.

Robertson, playing shortstop last week against East Illinois, suffered cartilage and ligament damage to his left knee while trying to escape a "roll block" during a double-play. Although surgery is not indicated, it most likely will keep Robertson out the rest of the season.

On the season, Robertson, who normally plays third for SIUC, has a .255 batting average, three doubles, two triples, 11 RBI and is four-for-five in stolen bases.

from third base to catching when Kempton was injured. Richardson has raised his average from .202 to .264. Senior Bobby Doerrer has done an excellent job in moving from second base to shortstop as has P. J. Schranz in moving from right field to second base.

drilled another lead-off single, his second. Ken Allen was brought in as a pinch-runner. Moving to second on a fielder's choice, he attempted to score on a Joe Schefke base hit, but was thrown out at the plate. It would have been so bad if he got a late jump, which he did, but Modica had him going on the pitch.

"It was a missed signal," said Modica. "We had the hit-and-run on. Allen would have scored easily if he would have seen the signal." South left two more runners on base in the fifth and would strand seven for the game. "In tight game like this, everything has to be perfect," said Modica. "It was a good ball game, but it was a game that we should have won."

Although Granite City South handled Wood River with ease last Monday, the Oilers were seeded ahead of South.

Kaenders' Pavilion dedicated to founder

The newest addition to the St. Elizabeth Medical Center was dedicated during the weekend as nearly 200 persons gathered at the new entrance to the hospital complex.

The Kaenders' Pavilion, named after the founder of St. Elizabeth Hospital, the Rev. Peter Kaenders, is the product of an $18 million expansion at the medical facility which includes a new emergency care unit, cafeteria, relocated business and ancillary offices and a coffee shop in the new lobby.

The main entrance to the medical center is now on the Washington Avenue side of the complex and is located adjacent to the Kettler Center. A large, well-lighted parking lot for visitors only is located in front of the new entrance.

Among the speakers at the brief dedication ceremonies Sunday afternoon were Congressman Melvin Price (D-East St.

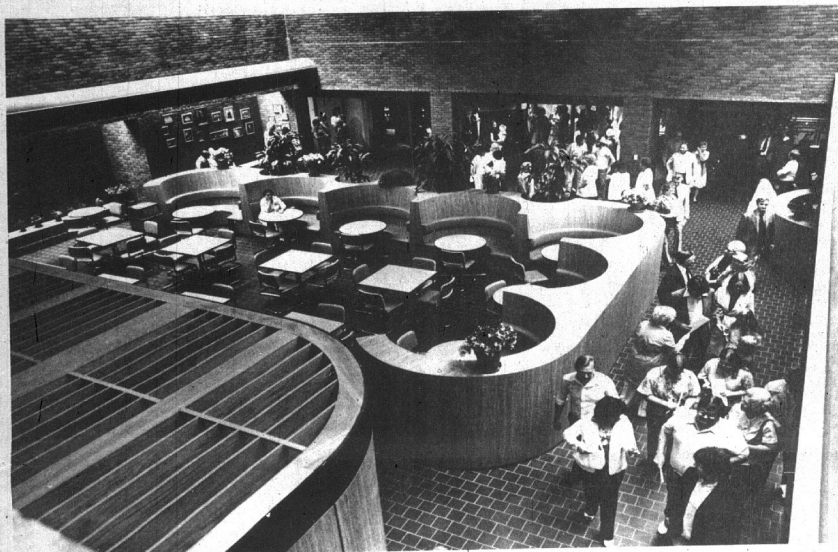

Louis), State Senator Sam Vadala (D-Edwardsville), Dr. Abdul Razzaq, president-elect of the SEMC medical staff, and Sister Mary Thomas, president of medical center.

Attorney Leo Konzen was master-of-ceremonies for the afternoon ceremonies which were opened by an invocation given by Rev. Don Pierson, pastor of the Nameoki United Presbyterian Church and president of the Quad-City Ministerial Alliance.

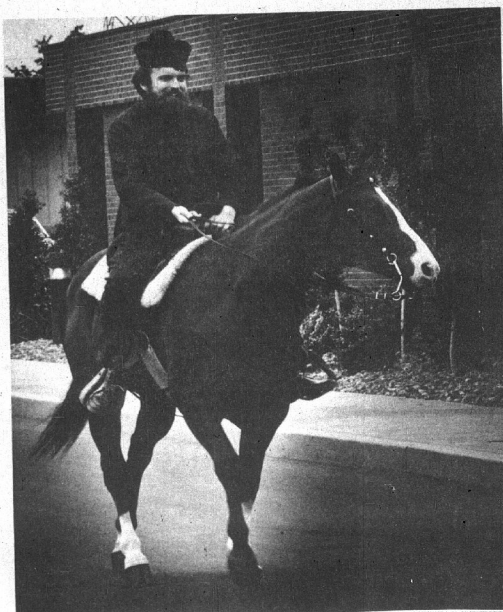

Rev. Joe Lawless, chaplain of the medical center, gave the benediction and the conclusion of the program.

A ribbon was cut at the entrance to the new wing during the program and the cornerstone of the addition was unveiled.

Tours of the new wing and other remodeled areas of the hospital complex was given to those interested immediately following the dedication.

DRIVERLESS RUNAWAY. The pickup truck of Terry Miles, 35, of 2615 Pontoon Road, at left, was flipped on its side Monday by a runaway State of Illinois dump truck sans driver in a freak accident. The driver of the state truck, Susan Bayless, 24, of Collinsville, had set the brake and left the truck which allegedly was set into motion when a shovel in the cab fell and hit the brake release.

The truck rolled down an embankment and into the moving pickup truck on 14th Street near Edwardsville Road. Miles was taken by his wife to St. Elizabeth Medical Center then on to Oliver C. Anderson Hospital where he was treated and released. Granite City patrolman Robert Krause questions Bayless at the far right.

Citizen panel for bus transit board

A citizen advisory committee is being formed from the nine Madison County townships that receive bus service from the Bi-State Transit System, it was related at the May pre-meeting breakfast Wednesday by William Haine.

Chairman of the Madison County Transit Board, Haine praised Bi-State's cooperation and said citizens can aid the three-member transit board in fine-tuning present bus service, matching the various routes with bus riders' wishes and priorities.

Township supervisors are being asked to suggest names of citizen committee members, and several at-large members also are planned to assure a cross-section of viewpoints, the breakfast gathering was told at Charlie's Restaurant.

Haine and Susan Schold, manager of the local county's transit program, answered questions from the gathering.

It was noted that active study is being given to establishing a bus route from the Quad-City area to the SIUE campus.

Haine said Madison County is the only one of the many jurisdictions dealing with Bi-State that has been awarded the right to help establish routes and other aspects of bus service.

Written approval must be given by the local transit board before service can be curtailed, he said.

No bus doors will be closed to prospective riders in St. Clair County, but care will be taken to avoid having routes there subsidized by Madison County, it was explained.

Haine said bus service to the Fairmont horse race track and to SIUE are valuable because the two examples, he cited are centers of jobs and economic activity beneficial to Madison County.

McDonnell Douglas plant bus service is heavily used but extremely costly, Haine commented in noting the complexity of evaluating bus routes' cost-benefit ratios. Both speakers urged that residents, employees, students, shoppers, senior citizens and others relay their ideas on needed bus service to the transit board members, who include Granite City Mayor Paul Schuler.

Haine said legislation may be sought to help small retail firms that suffer financially because sales tax charts fail to produce as much actual tax revenue as must be forwarded to the state government, some of it used later to augment bus systems' farebox income.

Small purchases can lead to under-collection of the tax when it is tabulated on gross sales volume, he added.

Larry R. Dew presided at the meeting.

Brass weighing 1,500 lbs. gone

Fifteen hundred pounds of 11-inch journal brass was stolen from the Purdy Company, located at the foot of Washington Avenue in Venice, it was reported at 7:40 a.m. Tuesday by Stan Helming, superintendent.

The thieves cut a hole in the west side of a metal shed, opened the large doors and took a wheelbarrow and a two-wheel dolly on which the brass was loaded.

The valuable metal apparently was transferred to a vehicle at the north end of the firm's lot at Race and Washington, the police report stated.

LOOT CAR AT NORTH

A $140 stereo tuner, a $60 power booster and an $8 tape recorder were stolen from the auto of Jerry Henderson, 23 Victoria Drive, parked in the parking lot of Granite City High School North between 8 a.m. and 3:05 p.m. Monday. The right rear window of the auto was broken.

At left, Maria Esperanza Leith, artistic group director and a featured dancer in the show, checks the authentic costume of Andrea Valencia. The public is invited to the traditional fiesta which starts at 8 p.m. Saturday in the Nameoki Village Bingo Center Hall in Nameoki Village Shopping Center. Music for dancing will be played from 9 p.m. until 1 a.m. by the Mike Luna Orchestra.

News notes

Newly elected or re-elected township officials will attend a workshop Saturday, May 16, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the board room of the SIUE University Center. Sessions will deal with budgets, tax levies, road funds, federal revenue sharing, and cooperative lease-purchase agreements.

Persons may contact the Governor's Office of Intergovernmental Cooperation in Granite City by telephoning 877-9200 or by writing or visiting the office at 16 Nameoki Village Shopping Center, Gov. James R. Thompson is urging citizens to use such branch offices when they encounter a problem in obtaining results in their contacts with state agencies.

The Madison County Board's negotiating committee voted Monday evening to recommend to the board May 20 that it conduct an election June 2 on decertifying the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees. It is intended to set the stage for an election to determine whether county employees want to be represented by Teamsters or the AFSCME.

The Illinois Board of Higher Education this week approved use of $700,000 in student fees to construct an outdoor swimming pool and other recreational facilities at the SIUE Tower Lake recreation area.

A workshop for professionals and paraprofessionals who work with the dying in hospitals, long-term care facilities and the community will be held at the Maple-Dogwood Room of the SIUE University Center May 22 from 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

A tour of the former Madison County jail by Finance Committee members has led to estimates that it might be as much as a half-million dollars to renovate the 10-year-old structure. Some County Board members want to have it torn down but preservationists are seeking to convert it into active use as an office center.

Maxine Holt of University City has won a trip to the Bahamas as this region's "quickest bartender." More than 750 bartenders raised $60,000 for the multiple sclerosis fund, with patrons donating 25 cents for every vote cast for their favorite. The 20 finalists included Shirley Ridenhour of Charlie's Restaurant, Granite City.

CARPOOL PARKING
The state has just awarded a contract to construct aggregate shoulders to be utilized as a carpool parking area on Ill. 157 north of Int. 270, west of Glen Carbon. Ketterling Excavating, Edwardsville, will do the work for $3,884.

Scouts tour State Capitol

An estimated 6,500 Boy Scouts, including pack 46 of Granite City, attended the 36th annual Pilgrimage in Springfield.

The ceremony began at the Lincoln Tomb, with a recital of "Taps" in memory of Lincoln. There also was a

After visiting the tomb, the scouts marched in a parade to the Illinois State Capitol and were guided through the building. The scouts then enjoyed a tour of the Illinois Museum.

Two commended for saving life

Two employees of First National Bank in Madison are being commended this week by bank officials and friends for a rescue.

Last week, while on duty, (ellers) Trudy Mayo and Mary Lou Griffin administered cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR) to Paul Rogenski, a customer, which may have saved his life. When Mrs. Mayo and Mrs. Griffin found Rogenski, he was without a pulse and was not breathing, they related. The women began CPR treatment until the Madison City Fire Department arrived with inhalators.

Rogenski then was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Medical Center, where he recovered. Rogenski was breathing again when the fire department arrived, due to immediate action of the tellers. "It's wonderful to medical journals, if no oxygen is delivered to the brain for more than a three to five minutes, brain damage will occur."

Mrs. Mayo and Mrs. Griffin, have taken CPR courses. Bank officials are encouraging other employees to enroll in these classes. "It's wonderful knowing it," said Mrs. Mayo.

Behind-mill reunion

Plans are in progress for a behind-the-mill reunion to be held at the St. Louis Area Support Center, former Granite City Army Depot, picnic grounds on June 14 at noon.

A spokesman noted that "a large percentage of the people who lived in the mill area are presently occupied by Granite City Steel."

Over the past decades, this territory housed many residents with ethnic backgrounds.

"Most of the home owners were proud people and took pride in their houses, which were surrounded by many beautiful flowers, trees and gardens."

"Unique types of grocery stores and confectioneries were located on practically every block of 20th Street, which was considered the Main Street of behind-the-mill."

A non-denominational Sunday school class was conducted by Mrs. Bethel Davis for many years.

"Liberty Grade School was located on East 19th Street for children attending classes in grades 1 through 3. "An effort will be made by committee members to contact all former and present residents by telephone. It is requested that each family bring his food, beverages, folding chairs and portable tables to the picnic grounds. Barbecue grills will be available."

"Residents are also being asked to bring any old photos, stories or memorabilia to share with others."

Committee members are Joe Crnkovich, chairman, and Harvey Smalle, Isabelle Brisky Crnkovich, Ann Mega, Casmer Skubish, Emma Kibort Jakich, Dorothy Timko Lesko and Helen Skubish Todoroff.

For further information, those to contact are Joe Crnkovich, 876-8009; Harvey Smalle, 876-4281; or Helen Todoroff, 877-9677.

Judge Beatty, 54, served on the Third Judicial Circuit bench for 10 years prior to being nominated to the U.S. District Court judgeship.

He was nominated by U.S. Senator Adlai Stevenson III of Illinois from among 24 applicants to fill the newly created federal judgeship in Southern Illinois on May 8, 1979.

Former President Jimmy Carter accepted Sen. Stevenson's recommendation and formally nominated Judge Beatty to the U.S. Senate for approval of the appointment in July 1979.

Confirmation by the U.S. Senate followed.

He was sworn in as United States District judge for the Southern District of Illinois in public ceremonies at the Alton Federal Courthouse on Oct. 19, 1979.

Judge Beatty has lived in Granite City for the past 28 years. He was born in Mendota, Ill., and spent his childhood in East St. Louis, where he attended elementary and high school.

He completed pre-legal preparation at Washington University in St. Louis and then obtained his law degree from St. Louis University School of Law in 1950, the same year he was admitted to the Illinois Bar.

In Good Spirits!

By GEORGE CREWS
Think of French wine and anything from champagne to an ordinary, and hundreds of names in between come to mind. Think of Italian wine, and chances are it's Chianti, and that's doing the Italian vineyards a tremendous injustice. Italy, not France, produces more wine than any other country, about 2 billion gallons per year from over 200 varieties. That fact alone is probably reason enough for some traditional sour grapes between the French and Italians. The United States imports more wine from Italy than from any other country. And, Italy produces an amazing variety of wines, markedly different from French or domestic products—not in quality, but in character. It might well be a pleasant diversion for the new wine enthusiast—and for anyone who just enjoys fine wines—to sample a Soave or a Tuscan White or a Bardolino—unless, of course, you have a decided interest in collecting rare bottles.

The Light Touch By Frank Townsend

Perhaps the strongest conflict of interest in most people's memory would be apple blossoms seen through a schoolhouse window. Isn't it funny? We can split the atom but we can't divide the oil. Sign in doctor's waiting room. Patients are asked not to exchange symptoms. I get the doctor hopelessly mixed up. A quick way to beauty highways would be to remove the toll booths. A business genius as someone who knows the difference between being let in a deal and being taken in on one. Here's the bottom line: You find the best deals around on new color TV's at Townsend TV.

Bus pact for this area

By BILL WINTER
of the Press-Record

Bi-State Development Agency commissioners on Thursday approved a contract with the Madison County transit district to continue bus service here despite the scheduled termination of most St. Clair County bus routes.

Madison County transit officials had voted for the bus service contract April 27. Thursday's action clears the way for Bi-State to receive back from the state government the proceeds from a quarter-cent sales tax that began in this county Feb. 1.

In return, the three-member Madison County transit board will have a partial voice in the number, type and quality of buses; decisions affecting facilities and fares; and designation of routes, schedules and stops.

The added sales tax provides about $1 million a year to augment state funds and farebox revenue in meeting transit wage, equipment and administrative costs.

Local and Bi-State officials believe that this county's willingness to pay a share of the bus subsidy will result in the Illinois state government continuing to supply funds at the present rate for service in this area.

The state contribution would have been cut in half without a local subsidy, drastically affecting the number of bus routes that Bi-State could have afforded to provide.

In contrast to the mass transit "green light" in Madison County, "yellow" and "red" signals are beginning to flash in St. Clair, which also has a quarter-cent tax, and in Monroe County, which has an eighth-cent sales tax. In both of the latter counties, voters opposed such taxation in advisory balloting conducted on the April 7 election day.

The St. Clair County Board, noting the 19,132 to 10,068 negative vote in St. Clair, voted 17-8 on April 27 to recommend ending that county's sales tax for transit purposes, effective June 30.

The St. Clair transit board then decided 3-0 April 28 to terminate the tax. That levy had been expected to produce between $1½ million and $2 million annually.

Although bus service is to continue in Madison County without major cutbacks, service from here to some St. Clair County areas seems likely to be reduced, and there also may be an impact on local routes that pass through St. Clair on the way to St. Louis, officials believe.

The Bi-State Development board, which operates the Bi-State Transit System, decided Thursday to reduce St. Clair County bus service on July 1, with employee layoffs estimated to total 175.

William J. Wilson, Bi-State transit manager, said he and his staff have not completed an exact listing of the service cuts, but that about 100 daily runs are in jeopardy.

He predicted that regular service may continue on only three or four major St. Clair routes beyond July 1, including Belleville-St. Louis, Alta Sila and Rosemont.

Wilson added that Sunday bus service probably will end in St. Clair County, with Saturday routes reduced to a minimum.

The Madison County transit board consists of a Madison County Board member, William Haine of Alton; Mayor Paul Schuler of Granite City; and Mrs. Viola Tucker, who has been the Collinsville Township supervisor. Haine is the chairman.

Terry Allan, who was elected in April to succeed Mrs. Tucker as supervisor, has been offered her transit board position but has indicated he may not accept it.

Michael Thompson is the Madison County transit board's legal counsel. Its administrator is Susan Schold.

The St. Clair transit board is composed of Belleville Mayor Richard Brauer (chairman), Mascoutah Township Supervisor Edwin Link and County Board Member Lonnie Mosely.

SIX MILE HOUSE which once served travelers going to and from St. Louis with hotel accommodations and as a post office. Old Six Mile has been proposed as the name of a new historical society being formed in Granite City. Remodeled in 1969, the building now is used as a private residence.

Old Six Mile suggested as name of new group

Old Six Mile Historical Society has been proposed as the name of a new organization being formed in Granite City. A meeting is planned Monday, May 18, at the town hall, 2060 Delmar Ave., to complete organization procedure. Officers will be elected.

When the Rev. David Badgley, a Baptist minister, and some others explored the American Bottoms in 1799, he described this region as the Land of Goshen, the land of milk and honey. In 1800 Ephraim Conner crossed the frontier to establish a home in this Land of Goshen and James Gillham and his family crossed the prairie along the bluffs and settled at the head of a long lake.

The following year, 1801, Patrick Hannanberry and the Wiggins family settled near Horseshoe Lake. This settlement became known as Six Mile. It was six miles from St. Louis. Later a hotel called the Six Mile House was built near this settlement, again indicating its distance from St. Louis on the National Road.

Six Mile included what is called Venice today, since the Great Wagon Road terminated at the ferry landing on the banks of the Mississippi. It also included all of the present Quad-City, incorporated and unincorporated areas.

When Madison County was organized on Sept. 14, 1812, the county was divided into four precincts or townships. They were Shoal Creek in the east; Goshen in the center; Wood River in the northwest; and Six Mile in the southwest.

Six Mile Township began at the southwest corner of the county on the Mississippi River, thence east along the county line to Cahokia Creek, and up the same to the mouth of Long Lake. It went up Long Lake to the road leading from Samuel Gillham's ferry (head Chouteau Island), thence south along the bank of the river including all islands to the place of beginning. In 1876 there was redistricting of the townships in Madison county. Nameki became Township 3, Range 9; Chouteau became Township 4, Range 9 and 10; Venice was Township 3, Range 10.

SPRING CONCERT AT LUTHERAN HIGH

The music department of Metro-East Lutheran High School will present its annual spring concert Friday, May 8, at 7:30 p.m. Featured will be the band and choir performing secular and popular selections ranging from country and western to the Beatles and to Broadway tunes.

This concert will be the first presented by the school in its new building, 1001 Center Grove Road, Edwardsville. The public is invited to attend, and there is no admission charge.

Summer youth program

Approximately 25 to 30 Granite City students, ages 16 through college age, will be employed this summer by the city to cut weeds and grass, to conduct trash pickups, to paint the homes of qualifying low-income families and to do other work for the city.

The city council has voted to allocate $30,000 for the student intern program, $10,000 more than was appropriated for the program last year.

Mayor Paul Schuler proposed the allocation, explaining that this year, $10,000 was added to the house painting program, which is funded by community development funds, can get underway immediately. Paint costs and salaries will be reimbursed by the county's community development office, but that office is slow in reimbursing the city for materials, Schuler said.

He suggested that the city purchase its own paint and then bill community development for a reimbursement, because "there is confusion and delay in community development getting materials approved."

A basic goal of the student intern program is to allow each student to learn approximately $1,000 during the summer. Students involved with weed cutting, trash collection, checking

In Good Spirits!

Think of French wine and anything from champagne to vin ordinaire, and hundreds of names in between come to mind. Think of Italian wine, and chances are it's Chianti, and that's doing the Italian vineyards a tremendous injustice. Italy, not France, produces more wine than any other country—about 2 billion gallons per year from over 200 varieties. That fact alone is probably reason enough for some traditional sour grapes between the French and Italians. The United States imports more wine from Italy than from any other country. And, Italy produces an amazing variety of wines, markedly different from French or domestic produce—not in quality, but in character. It might well be a pleasant diversion for the new wine enthusiast and for anyone who just enjoys fine wines—to sample a Soave or a Tuscan White or a Bardolino—unless, of course, you have a decided interest in collecting candle holders.

Bicycle safety education urged

Nearly half of America's population owns or rides a bicycle. In fact, there are more than 105 million bicyclists two-wheeling today, making the need for bicycle safety education more important than it has ever been, according to Police Chief Ronald J. Veizer of the Granite City Police Department.

American Bike Month in May is dedicated to promoting bicycle safety. For more than a quarter century, communities throughout the country have held special events geared to making their areas a safer place for bicyclists, Chief Veizer noted.

Because more and more youngsters and adults are riding their two-wheelers for fun, physical fitness, energy-conservation and short-haul transportation, Chief Veizer emphasized that the need for bicycle safety education in the schools, community centers and in cooperation with local law enforcement agencies is more urgent than ever before.

A recent two-year study released by the U.S. Department of Transportation showed that a common cause of many traffic accidents involving bicyclists was the "blind eye of the motorist," the Police Chief said. The study revealed that the scanning patterns of the motorist were beamed at other automobiles, frequently overlooking the presence of the bicyclist on the road. He cautioned motorists to remain alert to bike riders and respect their right to the road.

The study also pointed to the erratic and illegal maneuvers of bicyclists in unexpected places—such as exiting from driveways and sidewalks onto public roads, thus creating hazardous situations. Failure to stop or yield at controlled intersections and wrong-way riding also contributed to danger for bicyclists.

The American Bike Month Committee revealed that in addition to Illinois, Maryland, New York and Wisconsin, several other states are adopting formal bicycle safety education programs. Despite this trend, there is still a considerable vacuum toward getting practical education programs underway.

"There is no better time than during American Bike Month to remind citizens of the need for bicycle safety education," said Jim McPike (D-Alton), State Representative.

McPike (D-Alton) has been appointed to the Democratic House Task Force on Education by House Minority Leader Michael J. Madigan (D-Chicago). The 18-member group, Madigan said, will seek to answer what is a fair and adequate amount for state aid to elementary and secondary schools, and what changes are needed in the formula that determines how state school aid is distributed.

that bicycle safety is everyone's job," the police chief said. He reminded youngsters and adults that along with the Rules of the Road there is further need for maintenance of a bike to make sure that it is in safe operating order.

Most experts suggest that bikes should have regular maintenance inspections at a local bike shop, but there is no reason why the bike driver can't take simple steps toward preventive maintenance on his own. Handlebars and seats should always be adjusted to fit the bike driver and tightened. Chains should always be kept lightly oiled and brakes should always be checked before going out on a bicycle. Meanwhile, it is a very simple procedure to check tire treading to make sure there are no stones or glass bits lodged there.

McPIKE NAMED TO EDUCATION PANEL
State Representative Jim McPike (D-Alton) has been appointed to the Democratic House Task Force on Education by House Minority Leader Michael J. Madigan (D-Chicago).

Gulf, Western buys 20th of National Steel

Gulf & Western Industries Inc. has acquired 900,000 common shares, or 5.17 percent, of National Steel Corp. for $25.7 million, it was disclosed in a 13-D filing with the Securities and Exchange Commission last week.

The New York conglomerate acquired the shares of the Pittsburgh maker of metal products at prices between $23 and $30 a share.

Gulf & Western said the shares were acquired for investment purposes and it may purchase additional shares from time to time or dispose of part or all of its holdings.

In Pittsburgh, a spokesman for National Steel said Chas. G. Bluddorn, Gulf & Western chairman, notified the steel company of the stock purchase by telephone April 27.

"Mr. Bluddorn said this purchase was for investment purposes only," the spokesman related.

sales and measures and several other duties will be paid $500 a month and will work for two months. Some will work 2½ months, if sufficient funds remain, the council was told.

Those involved in the house painting program will earn more per month under community development guidelines, so they probably will work only one month before the program is discontinued.

The city plans to have two painting crews of five members each, one member being a union painter who supervises the work. The salaries will be paid by community development.

The paint crews will paint as many houses as possible during their time, selecting those which need the work most from a list of qualifying homes. Low-income residents who would like their homes painted under the program will be asked in the near future to apply with the city. Income guidelines must be below those established by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) as low income. Again, the city will use only one color of paint, white.

The paint program is relatively new, but the student intern program for weed cutting, mowing and trash pickups has been in existence for approximately six years, Mayor Schuler explained.

In asking the council to approve the $30,000 appropriation, Schuler said, "This is very necessary. We won't get any weeds cut if not approved."

Alderman Mac Warfield showed his approval, saying, "I think this is one of the best programs we have in this city." The council unanimously approved the allocation.

In other business, the council agreed to rehire Paul Jones to certify the accuracy of weights and measures in city businesses. Jones has been employed in the same capacity under the CETA (Manpower) program for the past two years, but funding for that program has been eliminated.

Schuler said the city has a chance to hire Jones part-time at $5 an hour until all of the grocery scales, gasoline pumps and other measures in the city have been certified. Jones has received special training in that field and is qualified, the mayor commented.

The council concurred that there will be a public hearing on the proposed sewage pretreatment program Tuesday night, May 5, in the council chambers. The program calls for testing the sewage discharge from major industries and forcing the industries to eliminate the discharge of wastes which are hazardous or difficult for the sewage disposal plant to treat.

The council concurred in the recommendation of Fire Chief Don Parente that David Macios be hired as an emergency medical technician (EMT) in the city's ambulance service, replacing James Monahan, who has been hired as a fireman by the city.

1981 mailbox improvement week planned

Among the many things that springtime brings to mind is spring cleaning, and Granite City Postmaster Jack D. Wilkins has a reminder to include the mailbox in this annual rite. He says, "Mailbox Improvement Week, May 18-23, provides the perfect opportunity to clean, repair, repaint or replace your mailbox."

"Neat, attractive mailboxes add to the overall appearance of the community and aid in the delivery of mail," the postmaster said.

"Boxes should be within easy reach for letter carriers. On rural routes, the carrier must have access without leaving his vehicle."

"Mailboxes on rural and contract routes must be located on the right side of the road in the direction traveled by the carrier."

"Rain or snow leaking into the mailbox could ruin a letter, so box seams should be tight to prevent loss or damage."

"Box numbers and house numbers should be clearly visible on the box, but including the owner's name is optional."

"All mailboxes must meet certain requirements for size, strength, safety and location. These guidelines are available from the post office."

More suggestions for summer weather activities in state

Here are other suggestions for kicking off warm weather activities in the state:

Santa Claus in May? Well, not the Santa of American Christmas card fame, but Sinterklaas, the Dutch patron saint. The jolly saint will be on hand to help celebrate Fulton Dutch Days tomorrow and Saturday.

There will be folk dancing in wooden shoes, street scrubbing, authentic Dutch costumes and cuisine, and a bazaar filled with crafts and antiques. There also will be an auto show, films of Holland and, of course, tulips.

Friday's activities begin at 1:30 p.m. A 6.2-mile race kicks off Saturday's events at 9 a.m., and the day ends with a performance of the musical, "The Red Mill," at 8 p.m. The musical will be presented at the Fulton High School gym. Fulton is in northwestern Illinois on the Mississippi River.

Lombard's annual Lilac Festival begins May 1 and continues through May 17 with tours of Lilacia Park, lilac bush and plant sales, carnivals, concerts and a croquet tournament.

The Prairie Breaker at the Early American Museum and Botanical Garden at the Lake of the Woods Park near Mahomet will give travelers yet another chance to experience early prairie life.

From noon until 5 p.m. Sunday, May 17, visitors can dip candles, churn butter, mash corn and learn about Indian lore. All these activities will be taught by volunteers in authentic costumes from the mid 19th Century.

The Prairie Breaker will also feature a 2 p.m. performance of Stephen Vincent Benet's "Stories of America."

One-act plays by the Back Door Players will be given throughout the day in the botanical garden.

Admission to the museum and garden is $1.25 for adults and 75 cents for children between 10 and 17. Children under 10 are admitted free. After visiting with the settlers, Illinoisans may now wow with the Indians. The Kane County Fairgrounds in St. Charles will be alive with the sights and sounds of hundreds of Indian dancers at the 19th annual Pow Wow and Arts and Crafts Show, May 16-17.

In addition to dancing, there will be tomahawk, knife-throwing and riflensmanship demonstrations, authentic Indian songs, costumes and food. Traders from across the nation will sell Indian merchandise and crafts.

The fairgrounds open at noon. Available to all travelers is a toll-free, 24-hour travel line featuring current information on major events throughout the state. The telephone number is 800-252-8987 within Illinois, and 800-637-8560 from Iowa, Minnesota, Missouri, Tennessee, Wisconsin, Kentucky, Ohio, Indiana and Michigan.

Avedisian to teach in Russia

John Avedisian, 25, the son of Granite City Police Patrolman Sam Avedisian and of Mrs. Marian Avedisian of Granite City, will be teaching for the next two school years in Moscow, USSR.

Avedisian has accepted a minimum two-year contract to teach in the Anglo-American School of Moscow where he will teach art to students from kindergarten to high school. The students, from 30 countries, are primarily the children of foreign embassy employees and diplomats in Russia.

He was born in Granite City and graduated from Granite City High School South in 1974. While in high school, he was active in athletics. Avedisian then attended Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville and graduated in 1978 with a bachelor of science degree in art education.

He then moved to Phoenix, Ariz., where he is teaching art in the Washington Elementary School District. Avedisian is a painter and sculptor, as well as a teacher. His work has been shown in several Phoenix-area art galleries and he has sold numerous pieces.

He was selected for the Moscow position from among many applicants. He will return to Granite City June 5 and will be here until reporting to Moscow, the week of Aug. 17 to 21. School will begin in September.

He has a grandmother, Mrs. Barbara Dudak of Madison.

MOSCOW BOUND. John Avedisian, a former Granite Cityan and son of local residents, will teach art the next two school years at the Anglo-American School of Moscow, USSR. He is shown with some of his artistic creations.

"Fair share" for Granite

The Granite City Council has been informed by Cheryl Joubert, director of Madison County Community Development (MCCD), that the city will receive an additional $30,000 in housing fund allocations.

A total of $620,000 was requested for housing activities, but only $260,000 was available to the MCCD.

Council members were apparently pleased with the city's allocations. "Taking into consideration the total amount over three years which has been given Granite City," said Mayor Paul Schuler, "We have received more than our fair share of the allocations for housing," he concluded.

Alton and Madison County Housing Rehabilitation programs have been assigned $30,000 each and Edwardsville is to receive $25,000 for its rehabilitation program. The City of Madison has been awarded $35,000 for its program.

Edwardsville, Venice and Nameoki Townships were each allocated $30,000. Lee Township will receive $20,000 for housing.

The $30,000 Granite City 1981-82 funding will be used by Granite City Housing Rehabilitation program.

Annual jazz festival at university this week

The fourth annual Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville Jazz Festival will take place May 7, 8 and 9 on the campus.

This year's festival will bring to this area such musicians as saxophonist David Liebman and pianist Richard Beirach, pianist McCoy Tyner and the McCoy Tyner Quintet, and keyboardist and composer Lonnie Liston Smith.

The festival, which has brought in the past such jazz musicians as Art Blakey, Earl Hines, Teddy Wilson, Betty Carter and Ahmad Jamal, will also feature performances by local professional and semi-professional jazz groups, and competition among high school jazz bands.

This Thursday, May 7, will begin the festival with a "bash" at the Faculty Club, beginning at 11 a.m. Admission to the bash is free, and it will feature jazz performances by several professional and semi-professional groups.

In the event of inclement weather, it will take place in Goshen Lounge of the University Center.

At 8:15 p.m., Liebman and Beirach will be in concert in Meridian Ballroom, following a performance by the SIUE Jazz Band.

The duo presents music stemming from a partnership beginning over a decade ago.

The two have performed at colleges and arts centers across the U.S., in addition to performances in Europe, India and Japan.

Out of the duo has come such works as Forgotten Fantasies, 1976, and Omeria, 1978. They have played with such notables as Miles Davis, Elvin Jones, John Ambrose and Stan Getz.

On Friday, May 8, there will be competition among local high school jazz bands in Goshen Lounge.

Pianist McCoy Tyner and his quintet will be in concert at 8:15 p.m., following a performance by the winner of the high school competition, in Meridian Ballroom.

Born in 1938, Tyner studied at the West Philadelphia and Grandmatt music schools. At age 15, he formed his first group, a seven-piece rhythm and blues unit.

He recorded some 20 albums with the John Coltrane Quartet, which included Elvin Jones on drums and Jimmy Garrison on bass. Tyner began to make a name for himself as a writer and soloist under Coltrane's influence.

Between 1965 and 1970, Tyner created several albums with musicians such as Ron Carter, Lee Morgan and Joe Henderson.

The ethnic and international scope of his performances is reflected in such works as "Aisha," "La Cubana," "Asian Lullaby," "Festival in Bahia," "Ido Serenade" and "Man From Tanganyika." His compositions include such unusual instruments as the Brazilian berimbau, the dulcimer and harpsichord.

Long regarded as one of the most creative forces in contemporary music, keyboardist, composer and bandleader Lonnie Liston Smith and the Cosmic

RICHARD BEIRACH and DAVID LIEBMAN

Echoes will highlight the final evening of the festival, Saturday, May 9, at 8:15 in Meridian Ballroom, during "Night Club." Night Club seeks to recreate the proverbial jazz atmosphere of candlelight and soft, vibrant music.

Having roots in Richmond, Va., Smith over the years, has become a member of that class of individuals whose appeal transcends all musical categories. His music has reached hit status on jazz, pop and soul charts.

Smith studied piano, tuba, trumpet and voice in high school and college, attending Baltimore's Morgan state College, where he graduated with a bachelor of Science degree in education. While in Baltimore, he worked as house pianist at the Royal Theater, backing up artists that ranged from Flip Wilson to Diana Ross and the Supremes.

After working with such jazz greats as Rahsaan Roland Kirk, Pharoah Sanders—a featured guest at one of the past SIUE jazz festivals—Art Blakey's Jazz Messengers—a guest at last year's SIUE festival—Chuck Mangione, Gato Barbieri and Miles Davis, Smith started his own group. The Cosmic Echoes have been together since 1973.

Welfare medical cutbacks

Governor James R. Thompson announced an additional $12.5 million in budget cuts last week from the fiscal 1981-82 budget. The revisions recommended in the Department of Public Aid and Department of Mental Health and Developmental Disabilities include: $98 million, cuts in welfare spending, and $14.5 million, cuts in mental health.

Of the cuts in welfare, $72 million will be reduced spending for medical services, $18 million for income maintenance, and $8 million for social services.

In medical services, some optional services will be eliminated for those programs that are 100 percent state and locally funded. These include podiatrists, chiropractors, appliances, non-emergency dental care, optometrists, outpatient and clinics.

These same services will be eliminated for those who do not receive income assistance — those who receive medical services only.

For families with dependent children and aged, blind, or disabled persons receiving cash assistance, only three optional services will be eliminated: podiatrists, chiropractors, and non-emergency dental care.

After these changes, those receiving cash assistance will still be eligible for the following services: hospital inpatient, outpatient, clinics, skilled and intermediate nursing home care, physicians, transportation, labs, home health, Medicare scheduling, prescribed drugs, emergency dental care, appliances and optometrists.

In addition, a program of co-payments will be implemented for prescriptions, visits to doctors and other practitioners, and clinic, outpatient, and emergency room visits.

Specifically, a recipient will be required to pay the first dollar per prescription, the first dollar per office visit, and the first three dollars per clinic, outpatient, or emergency room visit.

In addition to co-payments, all recipients who have available income will now be required to document medical expenses sufficient to meet their obligation, before the state will participate in paying the medical bills.

A third major initiative will be in hospital reimbursements. The amount the state will reimburse per day per hospital stay will be limited to $400. And the state will set maximum hospital reimbursement rates for some medical procedures, such as normal delivery and tonsillectomy.

On the income assistance side, new initiatives include those budgeted by the federal government. Income of stepparents will now be counted in determining eligibility for families with dependent children, and the state will be able, under

APA seeks donations for May benefit fair

The Association for Protection of Animals (APA) is seeking donated items for resale at its semi-annual "White Elephant and Book Fair," scheduled in mid-May at the VFW Hall.

Proceeds from the event will help to provide medical attention and food for abused and neglected pets, who are cared for by APA volunteers.

The funds also will help to complete the non-profit humane group's shelter care facility for animals, which is under construction on Old Alton Road.

Carol Wideman and JoAnn Hommer, APA co-presidents, said all kinds of miscellaneous household items, books and small appliances are needed for the fair.

They stressed, however, that clothing is not being accepted.

Pick up service is being offered to persons wishing to contribute items by calling 877-4833, 931-2845, 931-5654 or 878-1436.

The APA officers also announced the week of May 3 through May 9 has been designated "Be Kind to Animals Week."

Due to the current unseasonably hot weather, dog owners whose pets are kept outdoors are reminded to keep fresh water available and provide a shaded area for animals which are penned or tied.

Dog owners also are asked not to leave a pet inside a vehicle with the windows closed when outside temperatures are at a high level.

SUMMER INSTITUTE FOR THE TALENTED

Unlike a regular summer school class concentrating on a special interest or subject, an SIUE summer institute for talented high school students will allow the students to learn how various fields of knowledge — humanities, social sciences and technology — interrelate to one another.

The program begins with the interrelated studies and moves to an in-depth study of the student's own interest.

The third portion of the learning process will include first-hand experiences with computers, television or radio studios, libraries and nature trails. The institute will run from June 22 through July 17 and registration is $75, plus the cost of supplies. Quad-Cities may call 692-3896 for more information.

Receives award

Mrs. Gloria Vinton, 3248 Wayne Ave., won a membership award in for recruiting 12 new members into the American Iris Society while they were visiting her gardens.

Mrs. Vinton of Illinois Region 9, also will receive publications for her efforts, according to an announcement received here from the Iris Society.

Young men's drinking may delay their sexual maturity

Studies by a University of Illinois Medical center researcher suggest that chronic drinking may delay sexual maturity in male youths.

Robert A. Anderson Jr., Ph.D., assistant professor of physiology and biophysics, reported his findings at the 65th annual meeting of the Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology, held in Atlanta.

In studies using mice, Anderson found that animals fed alcohol for a period corresponding to adolescence reached sexual maturity later than another group of mice not given alcohol. Peak intoxication levels in the mice reached 120 to 150 milligrams percent; legal intoxication in humans is defined as 100 milligrams percentage (measure of the blood-alcohol level).

"Relating the lifespan of mice to humans, the group that did not consume alcohol reached sexual maturity at an age corresponding to 16 to 17 years old; the alcohol-fed mice, at about 19 years old," said Anderson, co-director of the University of Illinois Alcohol and Drug Abuse Research and Training Program.

Previous research has shown that chronic alcoholism can seriously impair sexual function and fertility in adult men.

These new findings suggest that males who begin drinking heavily in adolescence and continue as adults may never reach normal sexual and reproductive levels, Anderson said.

A national survey of drinking patterns among American teenagers conducted in 1978 reported that 80 percent of high school-age youths have tried alcohol. Thirty-one percent were misusers and half of those were drinking at age 13.

"The sociological and psychological impact of possible effects of teenage alcoholism on subsequent reproductive performance is great.

"This is especially so when one considers that recent survey findings and other data confirm that drinking among American youth is the rule rather than the exception and that drinking to intoxication is not uncommon," the School of Basic Medical Sciences researcher added.

Anderson used mice in his studies because many of their reproductive traits are similar to humans. After 29 days, the animal's period of sexual maturation, several different measurements of fertility indicated significant difference between the alcohol-fed mice and the control group. The animals given alcohol had smaller organs and their sperm showed higher incidence of abnormalities and were less effective at fertilization.

After two more weeks, however, the alcohol-fed mice had reached the same levels of sexual maturity as the control group and all measurements of fertility were approximately the same.

"Male sexuality may be more sensitive to the effects of alcohol during adolescence than adulthood," Anderson said.

"When the same amount of alcohol used in these experiments is consumed over the same period by adult males, only slight sexual dysfunctions appear — although significant changes occur over a longer time."

Certain enzyme and hormonal changes are necessary for the male to reach sexual maturity.

"Alcohol may delay maturity by slowing the production of the male sex hormone testosterone. This is the next question we will study in our research."

SCHOLARSHIP FUND DANCE ON MAY 8

Belleville Area College's Alpha Delta Chi fraternity will hold a dance at 7 p.m. May 8 to raise money to establish a scholarship fund.

Two bands — Specter and Intense — will play at the dance, which will be at the Executive Inn in Belleville, off Highway 15 and 158 behind Augustine's restaurant.

Tickets will be $2.50 for BAC students with ID cards. The scholarship fund will be set up to help incoming BAC students meet tuition expenses.
